Foreword

In 1992, for the first time since its establishment in 1975, the College of Fine Arts was located on a single campus. The year was also an opportunity to complete the processes of course development and expansion which quickened at the time of the College's amalgamation with the University in 1990. This process has now been successfully completed.

1993 promises to be a year of consolidation. The profile of undergraduate and postgraduate courses is now complete. The new challenge will be to establish ways in which the resources of the College can be used more effectively to provide for new clients who require special study opportunities tailored to meet special study needs.

Ken Reinhard
Foundation Professor of Art and Design Education
Dean and Director
The Schools of the College of Fine Arts
The University of New South Wales

The College of Fine Arts consists of four schools and one department, divided into a number of related subject study areas through which the subjects and courses of the College are offered.

The School of Studio Art
The School of Studio Art consists of the studies of Painting, Drawing, Printmaking (including etching, lithography, relief and silk screen printing).

The School of Media Art
The School of Media Art is comprised of the studies of Photography, Four Dimensional Studies (including film, multi-media computing, sound performance and installation and video), Three Dimensional Studies (including clay, construction, installation and spaces and jewellery and sculpture).

The School of Art Education
This school comprises studies in Art Education.

The School of Art Theory
This school includes studies in art history and theory and art administration.

The Department of Design Studies
This department comprises studies in design and ceramics.

The Clement Semmler Library
The Clement Semmler Library is situated above the Ivan Dougherty Gallery. It was named after Dr. Clement Semmler O.B.E., D.Litt., M.A., distinguished writer and critic and past Chairman of the Alexander Mackie College of Advanced Education Council.

The library supports and complements the teaching programs of the College of Fine Arts by providing resource materials and services designed to stimulate the learning process as well as satisfying the information requirements of staff and students.

The collection includes books, periodicals and an extensive range of audio-visual resources including slides, video cassettes and sound recordings. Services provided include CD-ROM and online database searching as well as in-house indexing of periodicals and audio-visual material which enhances access to this material. A professional reference service is offered and emphasis is placed on assisting users to make best use of the information services available and to gain lasting learning skills.

As a member of the UNILINC (formerly CLANN) library network, the library is able to provide the benefits offered by network technology, such as online and CD-ROM catalogues and computerized lending, as well as reciprocal borrowing rights with other UNILINC libraries. Reciprocal borrowing with the University's libraries at Kensington and St. George is also available to students and staff of the College.

The Ivan Dougherty Gallery

The Ivan Dougherty Gallery was established in 1977 by the Alexander Mackie College of Advanced Education at 200 Cumberland Street, The Rocks and was named after Major General Sir Ivan Dougherty, Chairman of the first College Council.

When funds were made available to refurbish the Albion Avenue Public School built in 1894, part of the ground floor was developed as the Ivan Dougherty Gallery's new premises. These were opened on 16 June 1981. In 1991 the Gallery celebrated its 10th anniversary in Paddington.

The purpose of the Gallery is to provide an educational and cultural resource for the students and staff of the College of Fine Arts, The University of New South Wales and the general public. The Gallery mounts ten to twelve group or thematic exhibitions per year of Australian and International contemporary art, incorporating all media and disciplines: painting, sculpture, printmaking, drawing, design, installation, photography, video and time based art.

A forum is organized in conjunction with each exhibition, which facilitates an exchange of ideas between artists, theoreticians, curators and students. In addition, floor talks on the exhibitions are staged in the Gallery for the benefit of students and the wider community.

Committed to stretching the boundaries of current art practice, the Gallery also coordinates Live Actions, a series of events and performances by contemporary Australian performers and performance artists.

Gallery hours: Mon-Fri 10.00 am – 5.00 pm; Sat 1.00 pm – 5.00 pm. Closed public holidays.
The COFA Gallery

The COFA Gallery is the on-campus student gallery of the College of Fine Arts.

The aims of the Gallery are to provide an environment where students can gain professional experience in gallery procedures as exhibitors and where Art Administration students can develop their curatorial and management skills.

The Gallery provides a public space for viewing recent works by students currently undertaking studies in the broad range of studio based courses offered within the College. In the case of competitive or sponsored exhibitions, work by students from other institutions can also form part of the Gallery's program.

Gallery hours: Mon-Fri 10.00 am - 5.00 pm; Sat 1.00 pm - 5.00 pm. (During session time only.) Closed public holidays.

Office of Research and Development in Art and Design

The Office of Research and Development in Art and Design (ORDAD) was established at the College of Fine Arts, UNSW in 1990 to assist staff and postgraduate students with research activities.

The College through this office, also assists staff in locating, applying for and taking up opportunities for professional development, directly and via the pages of The ORDAD Bulletin, a quarterly staff and postgraduate research newsletter. ORDAD collects and re-distributes a range of information, and, in collaboration with the College of Fine Arts Faculty Research Management Committee, administers the distribution of research funds allocated for the support of research activities conducted within the College.

ORDAD is located in A Block above the First Aid Room, and is open Mon-Fri 9.00 am – 5.00 pm.

General Information

The Student & Staff Advisory Service

Counselling

The Counselling service is available free of charge to students and staff experiencing any personal difficulties arising inside or outside the College.

Students and staff present with a range of problems including:

* Financial, e.g. Austudy, loans;
* Administrative, e.g. withdrawal, special consideration, appeals;
* Vocational, e.g. career change, interview skills;
* Academic, e.g. essay writing, seminar presentation, teaching skills, communication;
* Interpersonal Relationships; and
* Other stresses which are affecting their ability to fulfil their potential as a student or a member of staff.

All consultations are confidential. If the counsellor is unable to assist, referrals can be made to appropriate persons or organizations.

EEO Counselling

At the College of Fine Arts human rights to work, study and gain qualifications without suffering discrimination on the grounds of sex (including sexual harassment), race, marital status, pregnancy, impairment, homosexuality, political affiliations, views or beliefs or religious affiliations, views or beliefs are protected in accordance with the law.

Where a student or staff member believes that they may be experiencing unlawful discrimination they might wish to have confidential discussions with the Personnel Officer. The Personnel Officer is trained in the provisions of advice on anti-discrimination legislation and processes, counselling and conflict resolution techniques.

The Student Association

All students of the College are members of the Student's Association of which the Student Representative Council is the elected executive and is a chapter of The University of New South Wales Student's Union. The aims of the Association are to provide students with services and facilities that will assist them in dealing with their political, philosophical, academic and practical needs within the College community.

The Association is financed by a compulsory fee collected by the University on behalf of the Association as part of the enrolment procedure and is administered by the Executive and staff.

The Association is involved with the organisation of activities that include an on-campus Art Materials Store; an off-campus gallery, Arthaus, lunch time activities (barbeques, films, bands, guest speakers). It supports clubs and societies such as The Temporal Visual Arts Society and the Christian Fellowship and encourages students to involve themselves in interest groups on and off campus.
Through representations on College boards and committees the Association may communicate with the Dean and Director on matters affecting the student body and plays an active role in the decision making process of the College.

Fees and Charges

In 1992 a Student Association fee of $248 for each full-time student and $238 for each part-time student was charged at the commencement of the academic year. This fee may increase in 1993.

Higher Education Contribution Scheme

In 1989 the Commonwealth Government introduced the Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS). Under this scheme students are required to pay part of the cost of their higher education.

All students enrolling in 1992 incurred a liability for each session in which they registered. In 1992 the liability for one session of full-time study (i.e. standard load) was $1125. This amount is indexed each year.

Students registering in subjects to a credit point total greater or less than the standard load per session will incur a liability greater or less than the full-time liability amount in proportion to the credit point variation.

Students have the choice to pay up-front at enrolment and receive a 25% discount or to defer their payment and pay through the taxation system. In the case of a deferred payment, no payment is required until the student’s taxable income exceeds a threshold value, which is determined by the Australian Taxation Office. The threshold for the 1991/1992 financial year was $27,098. This amount is also indexed each year.

Further details about HECS and its requirements can be obtained from the Student Administration office.

Grievance Resolution Procedures

It is inevitable that from time to time cases of conflict and grievance will arise. To provide a means by which contentious decisions or disputes may be resolved grievance resolution procedures have been established.

In many cases problems can be solved by informal discussions with the appropriate member of academic or general staff however in each school of the College a member of academic staff known as the grievance resolution officer has been appointed.

At the commencement of session one a pamphlet describing the grievance resolution procedures and listing the names of these officers will be published.

An aggrieved student may initiate a preliminary meeting to outline the grievance, first with a staff member concerned (who may, in the case of a research student be the student’s supervisor). If not resolved, then the aggrieved party may approach the Head of School/Department but only on the basis of a written submission by the complainant. The Head of School/Department will ensure that the parties involved in the complaint are consulted and will attempt to resolve the matter. The Head of School/Department may seek the advice of an appropriate school committee. The decision of the Head of School/Department will be made in writing and will set out the reasons for the decision.

If a postgraduate student is still aggrieved, he or she may approach the Presiding Member of the Faculty who will undertake the same procedures as outlined for the head of school/department.

A student who remains aggrieved may request in writing that the matter be considered by the Dean and Director who will contact the aggrieved parties to ensure that all reasonable solutions to the problem have been evaluated.

Any student may approach the Appeals Committee of Council if it can be determined that all other stages in the grievance resolution procedures outlined above have failed to provide resolution of the complainant’s problems.

It is expected that a student would not approach someone higher in the grievance resolution hierarchy unless a serious attempt had been made to resolve the matter at the lower level or an approach to a particular person in the hierarchy was clearly inappropriate in the circumstances.

EXHIBITION REQUIREMENT

Participation in the annual Graduating Exhibition is a requirement for graduation.
First Year Subjects

COFA 2001  First Year Art History and Theory of the Visual Arts 1: Mapping the Modern  S1 L4 C12

This subject examines the production of art, art theory and its meanings within a fabric of political, economic and social formations. Starting with the Enlightenment, it focuses upon industrialization, colonization and technology, in relation to modernity, as well as cultural issues like Realism, 'Primitivism' and Expressionism.

In a combination of lectures and tutorials, students will be encouraged to explore the arts of modernism, in conjunction with the shifting conditions of modernity.

Prerequisite: COFA 2001

COFA 2002  First Year Art History and Theory of the Visual Arts 2: Mapping the Post Modern  S2 L4 C12

Drawing upon methodologies set out in the first part of Art History and Theory of the Visual Arts, this subject will examine a range of art and theory, within cultural contexts referred to as Postmodern.

In a combination of lectures and tutorials, students will be encouraged to investigate performance, installation and environmental art, as well as Feminist theories and art practices. Students will also explore contentious issues concerning gender and sexuality, consumerism, computer technology and ecology.

COFA 2015  Introduction to Photography  S1 or S2 T4 C12

The aim of this course is to introduce students to photography by application of theory, research and development of skills through a direct participation relevant to the field and to investigate the concept of image making.

Through studio and workshop participation and visits to relevant cultural centres students will begin to develop an understanding of the wider field of the photographic image, its implications, power and the responsibilities which are implicit.

COFA 2016  Introduction to Three Dimensional Studies  S1 or S2 T4 C12

An introduction to the means and underlying principles of contemporary fine art practice within a sculptural context, with reference to 3D studies in clay, construction, installation and spaces, and in jewellery.

The intention of this subject is to instil self confidence and to encourage an understanding of perception relative to the field of 3D studies. Participation in this subject will allow for the evolution of individually and contextually appropriate work relative to the subject and the student's own emergent creative practice.

COFA 2017  Introduction to Four Dimensional Studies  S1 or S2 T4 C12

The aims of this course are to gain an awareness of the nature and variety of experiences included in the area of four dimensional studies, to appreciate the specific qualities and potential of time based art and to begin to acquire the technical, intellectual and creative skills necessary for the creation of original four dimensional works.

The course provides a context for time based activity through a program of critical, practical and theoretical instruction and debate.

COFA 2018  Printmaking  S1 or S2 T4 C12

This course aims to encourage in students an awareness of the creative possibilities of printmaking as a means of individual artistic expression. They are introduced to a range of experiences which will enable them to develop basic skills and techniques in one of the printmaking media. These may include etching, lithography, screenprint or relief printing.

Students will explore the relationship of concepts to the specific characteristics of the chosen printmaking medium and will be encouraged to formulate and implement a field of practice within that medium and develop the capacity to investigate and use various compositional models in two dimensional artistic practice.

NOTE: Subject outlines for COFA 2500 Painting 1; COFA 2600 Sculpture 1 and GOFA 2340 Drawing 1 are contained in the section of this Handbook entitled "Studio Subjects".
Subjects: BFA

History and Theory Subjects

Subject Outlines

COFA 2104 Cross Media and Interdisciplinary Theory

This subject has been constructed to address a range of ‘new’ arts within their political, economic and social context, as they emerged from the late 1960s.

Installation, performance, environmental art such as earthworks, electronic art, and Feminist art practices comprise some of the range of ‘new’ art to be addressed.

COFA 2105 Seminar in Women’s Studies 1

This subject may be repeated up to a total of 3 times.

The subject should encourage the student to question everything, both past and present, in Australia and overseas. That which relates to the retention of conventional values in the arts will in some way be challenged.

An examination of feminist issues as they affect art works and art producers will be undertaken.

COFA 2125 Issues and Theories of Film

This course will examine classical film aesthetics, and a range of theoretical perspectives from the recent past. This will include readings from the work of Eisenstein, Bazin, Kracauer, as well as auteurist theory, and contemporary inter-disciplinary approaches.

COFA 2132 From The Age of Absolutism to The Enlightenment: Mannerism, the Baroque and the Art of Revolution

This moment in European history – a moment precipitating the colonisation of Australia – often regarded as marking the transition between feudalism and the modern State, will be explored through the centralization of absolute power by such monarchs as Louis XIV, the relationship between dynastic control, Enlightenment ideas and the growth of parliament and ways this lead to reform, revolution and ‘democracy.’

The interrelationship between Mannerist and Baroque art, within the 17th and 18th century shift of centre from Italy to France, will be examined in this context, together with ways such art became displaced by new concepts and genres of culture and revolutionary art.

COFA 2136 The Avant-Garde and Modernism and the Twentieth Century Experience of Modernity

Following Napoleon’s blaze of European and colonial conquests and his downfall, a waning of revolutionary fervour marked early nineteenth century reaction in Europe, in which church, monarchy and such authoritarian institutions as The Academy for Arts became reactivated, but subsequently contested.

The schism between Neoclassicism and Romanticism, concepts of art-for-art’s-sake, oppositions to academic art, the rise of ‘Orientalism’, the emergence of photography and formations of an ‘avant-garde’ are issues which will be examined in this context, through such artists as Ingres, Canova, Goya, Turner, Daumier and Delacroix.

COFA 2140 Art Metaphysics and the Sublime

This subject is designed to enable students to gain an understanding of the theory of the sublime, myth, structure, archetypal patterns of symbolism and the mythopoeic imagination.

Theories of the sublime, myth, structure, archetypal symbolism and a critical discussion of salvation and its symbolic expression will form the focus of the subject.

COFA 2205 Critical Theories of Photography

This subject will examine the major ways in which the photographic image and the social practices of photography have been theorised. Semiotic and post-structural approaches to reading photographs will be given particular attention. Other areas to be covered include aesthetic theories of photography, theories about the ‘nature’ of photography, context and meaning, photography and truth, documentary realism and critiques of realism.

COFA 2208 The Medieval and Renaissance Cultures of Europe

Within a shift from remote monastic settlements into towns from the 12th century, the emergence of urban cultures will be examined in relation to the organization of the artist’s workshop, a domestication of religious imagery, the flourishing of fresco narrative, the emergence of secular patronage and its ramifications upon new genres of art and culture.

Humanism and the recording of the Antique, Nominalism and Neoplatonic philosophy, expansions of trade routes and global exploration, together with the rise of European and 'New World' power in such centres as Italy, Holland, Portugal and Spain, will define an historical context for the examination of Renaissance art and culture, and artists as diverse as Donatello, Piero della Francesca, Holbein, Jan Van Eyck and Bosch.

COFA 2212 Early Christian, Islamic and Other Cultures

Starting with the displacement of Rome by Ravenna and Constantine's Byzantium as the new centre of Christianity, the power of the Romanized Christian Empire will be traced, in conjunction with the flourishing of Early Christian, Carolingian, Romanesque and Gothic art and culture, until the fall of Constantinople to the Turks in 1453. The shift from a rational scientific and materialist philosophy of ancient Greece and Rome to Christian faith and spiritual values, articulated by such theologians as St. Augustine and scholastics as Abelard and Thomas Aquinas, will be examined in relation to Mohammed's conquest of Mecca, the Muslim faith and the spread of the Islamic Empire.

COFA 2215 Australian Cinema

This subject enables students to become familiar with the development of cinema in Australia including the avant-garde.

COFA 2218 The Art of Ancient Cultures: Assyria, Mesopotamia, Egypt, Persia, Greece and Rome

Egyptian pharaoh pyramids, tombs and culture of death, the sculpture and friezes of Assyria and Mesopotamia will be examined in relation to the break-up of the Mycaenaen world and matriarchal cultures, together with the shifts of dominance in the Eastern Mediterranean by the Persian Empire, until its defeat by the Greeks.

The supremacy of the Athenian Greeks, their rule of demos (democracy) and ethos (ethics) will be explored in relation to their new Classical Order articulated through temples and sculpture, philosophy, poetry and drama, together with the shift to Alexandria and Hellenism, and the ultimate displacement and appropriation of Greek culture by the Roman Empire.

COFA 2227 Histories of Women Artists

This subject will critically examine the issues of gender in art history from a number of perspectives.

Social and cultural analysis will be applied to the work of a variety of women artists. Art Historical perspectives will be subjected to a feminist reading.

COFA 2232 Koori and Associated Cultures

'Koori' rather than 'Aboriginal' is the term used by indigenous people to emphasise their distinct identity. It is a generic term used long ago by the peoples of the central coast of what is now New South Wales. It has been widely adopted by the people of south eastern Australia. In other parts of Australia other terms are used.

Today we are witnessing transformations of Koori and other associated cultures. They have strong roots in tradition but they have adapted, and continue to adapt, to changing conditions and external influences. The purpose of this subject is to examine developments through a series of lectures by Koori artists and other relevant guest speakers.

COFA 2238  Histories and Theories of Ceramics  S1 or S2 L2 C8

In this subject, students will examine the different forms and functions of ceramics in relation to their historical context.

COFA 2250  Colonialism and Art: Inventing the "Other"  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject will introduce students to issues involved in looking at the cultural activities and artefacts of non-Western cultures. The ways in which Western knowledge has sought to 'invent' other cultures in its own image or as its antithesis will be examined. The gaining of an understanding of the concept of ethnocentrism and colonialism will be central to the course, as will the operation of the notion of 'the primitive' in modernist art.

COFA 2251  Orientalism and Primitivism  S1 or S2 L2 C8

of the interdependence of art and literature, as well as its implication for both artists and writers. To illustrate the point, the literary production of visual artists such as Delacroix or Courbet will also come under close scrutiny.

COFA 2255 Writing on Art S1 or S2 L2 C8

Following on from COFA 2254, the second unit of this two-session course will be concerned with the works of seminal 20th century writers who, from a nonphilosophical (systematic) perspective, have contributed to the definition of contemporary art and its understanding. With the works of poets (Rilke, Wallace Stephens or Paul Celan), novelists (Hermann Bloch, Kafka, Proust, Breton), essayists (Valery, Benjamin, Steiner), or artists (Cezanne, Braque or Klee), students will be given a wide range of writings on art to explore.

COFA 2256 Psychoanalysis and Art S1 or S2 L2 C8

The subject is designed to develop a critical understanding of the relationships between specific theories of psychology, psychoanalysis and art practice.

The motivation, reception and interpretation of works of art will be studied in the light of such theories as Freud's "metapsychology", Jung on Dreams, Laura's Mulvey's notion of the 'gaze' and Michael Foucault's histories of madness and sexuality. Art works examined will be representative of a wide range of movements and traditions.

COFA 2258 A History of Drawing S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject is designed to provide students with an understanding of a wide historical range of drawings, and to examine the relationship of drawing to other art forms as well as its development as an art form with its own integrity.

Drawings from the Neolithic and Greek periods, from Carolingian and Medieval times through to the Renaissance, Baroque and Modern times will be examined, within the cultural contexts.

COFA 2259 Terra Australis: First Contact, Aboriginal Art and the Cultures of Settlement S1 or S2 L2 C8

As is now well documented, the colonization of Australia did not directly follow from early European explorers and traders voyages to Terra Australis, the great unknown land lying in the southern hemisphere, but from the political, economic and social circumstances of George III's England at the end of the Enlightenment. Whilst myths of Terra Australis will be examined in this Subject, the prime focus will be upon the process of colonization, the institution of a penal colony and its impact upon the indigenous Aboriginal population. The emergence of a colonial culture with such artists as Joseph Lycett, will also be examined, together with the shifts in society and culture, and representations of gender, aborigines and 'migrant races' which occurred during the Gold Rush period with such professional artists as John Glover, Eugene Von Guerard and Adelaide Ironside, and such growing patrons as the State's Galleries.

As this subject is designed as preliminary to Australian Post-War Art and Culture, formations of nationalism leading to Federation will also be explored in relation to the 'open-air' camps of painting and the Heidelberg School, aestheticism and the revival of classicism through such artists as Norman Lindsay, as well as the emergence of Modernism with such seminal figures as Grace Cossington-Smith.

COFA 2260 Angry Penguins, Antipodeans and Abstractionists: Australian Post-War Art and Culture S1 or S2 L2 C8

Starting with the Great Depression, what Bernard Smith refers to as 'The Second Phase of Modernism' will be considered through such artists as Grace Crowley, Frank Hinder, Theo Proctor and Margaret Preston before examining such Angry Penguins as Albert Tucker, Arthur Boyd, Yosl Bergner and Joy Hester in relation to their journal published by Max Harris and John Reed, and in conjunction with the ideological and material disruptions of World War II.

Amidst a Cold War context, the grouping of such artists as Arthur Boyd and John Brack under the banner of Bernard Smith's Antipodean Manifesto, will be explored, in conjunction with American cultural imperialism and the growth of lyrical abstraction, the Charm School and the Contemporary Art Society's debates around Sydney art as decorative surface, questions of social conscience, vapid consumerism and the Annandale Imitation Realists, together with such issues as representing Australianess, its myths and land, through such art as Sidney Nolan's Ned Kelly series and John Olsen's You Beaul Country.

COFA 2261 Photography: Historical Perspectives S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject will examine photography historically taking into account the diversity and ubiquity of the medium and the problems that this raises for linear chronological accounts. Areas to be covered in the medium's one hundred and fifty year history include changing technologies, genres, uses, aesthetic debates and the intersection of photography with larger historical forces. Specific topics include documentary and social reform, war photography, advertising, photojournalism and the rise of the illustrated press, the emergence of fine art photography, recurrent aesthetic themes and oppositional practices.

COFA 2268 An Introduction to Modern Aesthetics S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject will introduce students to aesthetics as a separate branch of Philosophy, from Baumgarten to Worringer. The most fundamental ideas of such key thinkers in art as Burke, Kant, Hegel, Schopenhauer, Nietzsche will be discussed in class and examined in both historical context and the contemporary.
This lecture and seminar course focuses on a number of (mainly) 19th century perspectives on the body and subjectivity in order to give a critical and philosophical background to 20th century treatments of similar or parallel concerns. Themes to be considered include: Sade and the nature of human nature; Marx's analysis of the body as a site of alienated labour; Socialism and the heroic body - Phoebus and Courbet, William Morris and the Arts and Crafts Movement; Social Darwinism and the dialectic between the body seen as a site of progress or degeneration; the female body considered as a site of social power - Victorian feminism and femininity; Freud and culture conceived as a process of repression.

Students will also be exposed to a wide range of performance theory, particularly as it has developed during the past twenty years.

This subject will provide an historical overview of the variety of Aboriginal Art Forms that were practiced prior to European invasion, it will examine traditionally based art forms that are still practiced in the more remote parts of Australia, it will look to the innovative art forms that have developed in contemporary Aboriginal Australia; it will examine the ethnocentrism of European thinking that can inhibit appreciation of Aboriginal art, and it will address the problem of appropriation of Aboriginal imagery.

This subject would be particularly suitable for all students at UNSW, especially those in the German department.

This subject focuses on painting in France and Britain during the second half of the 19th century. Within changing cultural, political and social contexts, the production of painting is examined in the light of four major themes: Work, Sexuality, Leisure and Class. Paintings by Manet, Monet and Ford Madox Brown, to name a few, are discussed in detail, together with images by lesser known figures such as Francois Salle and Augustus Egg.

This subject provides students with knowledge of the history of painting from pre-industrial Europe to recent times with emphasis on both the perceived mainstream and more divergent approaches such as the Northern Romantic movement, the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood and other regional developments.

This subject will examine the nature of the physical surround of the art object. While the focus will be on installation work produced since the 1960s there will also be an examination of a range of cultural context and historical periods. In every case examined there will be an emphasis on the way in which the physical surround of the art object is conceptualized. Included will be the influence of the Theatre of Cruelty, past revolutionary Russian theatre and cinema, Dada and Surrealism on the conceptualization of installation and a comparison of the Oriental and European constructions of figur/ground relationships.

In this subject, students will examine the historical emergence of performance as an accepted art form, together with its transformations over the 20th century.
Artefacts have been classified by art historians as minor arts and 'decorative arts' as such have been dismissed from serious study. This subject will attempt to redress this lack by examining selected examples of objects from ancient times to the contemporary period. Conventional art, historical and 'decorative arts' as such have been dismissed from which Postmodernism has been defined through art and examined through such characteristics, together with ways in which ideology are all terms used to characterise Postmodernism and distinguish it from The Modern.

While the conjunctions of Modernism to Postmodernism remains a contentious issue, their interrelationship will be examined through such characteristics, together with ways in which Postmodernism has been defined through art and culture.

With the burst of utopian fervour following the 1917 October Revolution in the Soviet Union the Mexican Revolution and the November Revolution in Germany, a diversity of experimental Modernist art flourished through such artists as Rodchenko, El Lissitsky, Mayakovsky, Vertov and Eisenstein in the Soviet Union, George Grosz, Kollwitz, Hannah Hoch and John Heartfield in Germany, together with Diega Rivera and Frida Kahlo in Mexico and Americans like Ben Shahn and Philip Guston working in support of Roosevelt's New Deal.

Concentrating upon the interwar period, the emergence of a diverse range of Modernist revolutionary art will be examined in relation to Communism, Socialism, European and American democracies and Fascism, together with ways it became expunged through the imposition of Soviet Socialist Realism, following Stalin's collectivization and Hitler's notorious Degerate Art Exhibition in Nazi Germany.

"Letting 100 flowers bloom and 100 schools of thought contend" was a seminal part of Mao Tse-tung's policy for promoting 'progress' amidst the arts and sciences to create a flourishing Socialist culture throughout China.

The cultural policy formulated by Mao Tse-tung in the 1950s will be examined in relation to the Cultural Revolution, launched in 1966, to use culture as a means of changing Chinese society towards a greater egalitarianism, and in conjunction with the decolonisation of the Philippines, Cambodia and Vietnam, the political dictatorship of Indonesia and the Vietnam War.

This subject is designed to give students the opportunity to learn about the art of printmaking through a critical analysis of the works and attitudes of artist printmakers.

It will take the form of an historical overview of printmaking from the fifteenth century to the end of the nineteenth century, the emphasis being placed on European prints.

It is designed to enable students to become familiar with developments in printmaking practice in the twentieth century through the work of key practitioners. The interaction of printmaking with other art practices such as painting and photography will be explored as will the influence of the various commercial print technologies.

Change of Major Study

In special circumstances students may make applications to change their major studies. Such applications may be made to Student Administration Unit prior to the commencement of either Session 2 or Session 3. A change of major study must be approved by the appropriate Head of School and the Deputy Director.
Subjects

First Year Core Subjects

Media Art

COFA 1101 Media Art IA S1 or S2 L3 C10

This subject focuses upon the imaginative translation of thought and experience into two-dimensional and other 'image' forms, and upon the generation of imagery from a wide range of stimuli.

One of the main emphases will be upon working photographically and with associated processes. Broader methods of image-making such as drawing, three-dimensional and time-based approaches will also be addressed, as will questions of intent, content and context, the development of personal visual languages.

COFA 1102 Media Art IB S1 or S2 L3 C10

This subject forms an introduction to the imaginative and personal fabrication of form, as well as to the perception and articulation of space, both as a medium in its own right and as the medium in which all perception and plastic experience takes place.

A wide range of media and processes will be explored, not simply those that are explicitly sculptural and three-dimensional, but also, where appropriate two-dimensional or time-based ones.

Issues will be explored related to perceptual and other experience, symbolism and metaphor, narrative and scale, function and identity. This subject will focus on current sculptural and related practices, including installation, work sited on, or deriving from the body, and work devoicing from an awareness of materials and process.

COFA 1103 Media Art IC S1 or S2 L3 C10

This course provides an introduction to the broad range of ways of working that may be described as time-based, or that actively explore time as a plastic medium in its own right.

Ideas tackled might therefore emerge in the form of moving imagery such as film/video and animated or kinetic work in two or three dimensions, along with performance, work based on or involving the use of sound, and other processes such as drawing, writing or photography in which time is an active element.

Students are encouraged to develop a working-practice founded upon their own ideas and experiences, supported by an inventive attitude to a wide spectrum of media.

COFA 1104 Media Art ID S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject provides an arena where the various concerns of the rest of the first year Media Art course are brought together to address the complex relationships existing between the student as an individual, their work and ideas, and the living culture of which they are part.

The subject consists firstly of 'forum' sessions, which focus upon the work of particular individuals (practicing artists and others) who participate in these sessions, and secondly of 'integration' sessions. These, through a variety of projects, discussions and other initiatives, concentrate more directly on the individual student and on issues raised by their work, including, as the session progresses, decisions concerning their future subject specialization.

COFA 1105 Media Art 2A S1 or S2 L3 C10

Prerequisite: COFA 1101

This subject is designed to provide a transition from the breadth of experience of the first session, to the increasingly personalised program of subsequent sessions. During this period students will be able to map out with increasing certainty the natural bounds of their own artistic enquiry. This subject consists of a series of projects, which are primarily defined by idea and content, so that a trajectory that is individually stimulating and exploratory may be pursued by each student. The lack of constraint upon medium or dimensionality means students may choose to continue working as diversely and divergently as during the first session, or to concentrate more specifically upon modes of working particular to a chosen major area or study.

COFA 1106 Media Art 2B S1 or S2 L3 C10

Prerequisite: COFA 1102

In this studio based subject the students will begin studies related to their specialized area chosen from the following: Photographic Studies (image technologies/image manipulation), 4D (film, video art, sound/installation/performance), sculpture (object/installation, jewellery/bodyworks, clay).

While each of these may be considered as a self-contained area of study, it is also possible to opt for an interdisciplinary synthesis of the above. In this subject there will be an emphasis on an analysis of the students' conceptual development, the generation of ideas, visual language, acquisition and application of skills, manipulation of materials and interaction with context.

COFA 1107 Media Art 2C S1 or S2 L3 C10

Prerequisite: COFA 1103

This subject consists of a series of workshops based across the School of Media Art, which are designed to extend from and expand upon the basic technical inductions encountered during the first session. Specific and adaptable methodologies and processes will be explored, enabling a more resolved synthesis from the conceptual beginnings of a work to its realisation.
COFA 1108  Media Art 2D  S1 or S2 L2 C8
Prerequisite:  COFA 1104

This subject provides a continuing arena for tutorial, contextual and personal support. Attention will be paid to a continuing breadth of stimulus and thought, and to specific advice appropriate to the confirmation of students’ future directions.

There will be a continuing program of visiting artists and other practitioners, plus projects designed to stimulate awareness and debate.

Studio Art

COFA 1001  Studio Art IA  S1 or S2 L3 C10
This subject will introduce students to basic concepts and skills in drawing. Students will be encouraged to understand both the inter-relationship of form and content and the creative possibilities of various media and techniques. The importance of analytical observation will be emphasised. Students will be expected to attain a basic competence in drawing by the end of session.

4. Bachelor of Art Education – BArtEd

THE COURSE

The Bachelor of Art Education is a four-year full-time degree course designed to meet the community's need for art educators in secondary schools and related institutions.

The course incorporates flexibility in its structure in order that students may develop their individual potential as future art educators in a variety of roles, since secondary art teachers are required to fulfill many and varied responsibilities. They may function essentially as art historians, practical art producers, art education specialists or they may operate within the school situation as generalists whose interests cover the visual arts and crafts and the performing arts, as well as art theory and art history. The opportunity exists within the course for students to specialize in any of these roles.

The course also provides for students who wish to be practising art educators outside the high school area.
STRUCTURE OF THE COURSE

(NB This course structure applies only to those students who enrolled for the first time prior to 1993. Students must consult their academic advisers regarding subject requirements for the various segments of the course.)

COFA 4002 Adolescent Growth and Development S1 L2 C8
This subject fosters the prospective teacher's awareness of developmental processes and its relevance to education. It encourages a developmental perspective for the observation and understanding of secondary school pupils. Opportunity is given to exercise the skills of observation and reflection and to relate these to classroom practices and to current theoretical constructions about adolescence.

Aspects of adolescent development studies include biological, personality, social cognitive and moral. The ideas of theorists such as Erikson, Piaget, Kohlberg and Bandura are examined at relevant points in the subject.

S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject is designed to give art educators some insight into the social and political background that has affected, and continues to affect, the educational opportunities of Aboriginal people in modern Australia.

Through lectures, discussions, seminars and visits by Aboriginal guest speakers, this subject will examine the following topics: Aboriginal Identity, Kinship, Law, Religious and Educational Systems and Land Rights; it will also explore European ethnocentrism, prejudice, stereotyping and racism. All topics will be illustrated by art works by both Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal artists.

COFA 4040  Independent Study in Art Education
S1 or S2 L4 C8

Prerequisite: Seminar in Art Education

This subject aims to provide senior students with the opportunity to explore an area of art education which is of particular interest. Through interaction with a member of the staff of the School of Art Education, students will undertake a study in some aspect of art education which is not encountered in other subjects offered.

Students are expected to demonstrate initiative and organization skills in independently pursuing the research process and reaching educational objectives.

COFA 4042  Art as Therapy 2
S1 or S2 L4 C12

Prerequisite and Corequisite: Art as Therapy 1

This subject is an extension of subject COFA 4035: Art as Therapy 1. It provides students with further opportunity to explore and study areas of special interest developed as a consequence of their studies during the Prerequisite subject COFA 4035. A number of visiting specialists currently involved in art as therapy will form a component of lecture input. Following this core of lecture-workshop series, the students will participate in eight half-day practicum attachments to relevant institutions.
Through lectures and workshop activities the subject elaborates and extends the various theoretical frameworks that make understanding possible. A feature of the subject is its practicum element of eight weeks.

COFA 4043 Educational Research and Art Education

This subject introduces students in either Year 3 or Year 4 of the BArtEd course to classical and more recent educational research methods and their effectiveness in understanding the contexts, inputs, processes and outputs associated with art education.

COFA 4044 Teaching In Non-Government Schools

This subject is designed to provide an integrated approach to the issues associated with teaching in non-government schools.

Provision will be made for students to study in more depth, chosen aspects by means of internal election.

COFA 4045 Community Arts and Education

This subject aims to develop in students an understanding of the factors which condition community involvement in the visual arts, an appreciation of the values underlying the avocational pursuit of art outside the school system and the ability to organise a curriculum applicable to community based activity in the visual arts.

COFA 4046 The Art Museum and Art Education

This subject aims to foster an awareness in students of the ideology and philosophies of art museums and an understanding of the educational functions of the museum in the development of a lifelong concept of learning. Students will have the opportunity to apply appropriate instructional methods in the art museum context and systematically investigate the plurality of roles which the museum performs within our society.

5. Bachelor of Art Theory – BArtTh

THE COURSE

The Bachelor of Art Theory is a three year Degree course. The course has been constructed to provide intensive study of art histories and theories, as well as to address the nexus between art theory, art practice and 'the art industry'. It will provide an education for those wishing to find employment as gallery curators, art administrators, art consultants, art project officers, art writers and critics, as well as for those who wish to 'freelance' as artist/theorists.

The Bachelor of Art Theory Degree is constructed around three integrated strands of study comprising Core Subjects, Contextual Studies and Core Options.

CORE

The Core Subjects provide intensive study in art histories, theories and philosophies. These subjects consist of The Modern and The Postmodern, Theories of the Image, as well as Theories of Art History and Culture in the first year. In the second year, students would undertake Narratives of Western Art, as well as Images of Non-Western Art. These Core Subjects are complemented by Mythologies of the Artist and Art and Cultural Difference. In the final year, Core Subjects are Art and the Culture of 'Everyday Life', Art in Focus and Philosopies of History.

CONTEXTUAL STUDIES

Contextual Studies consist of subjects such as Audiences for Art, The Production of Art and Genres of Art Writing. This strand aims at integrating theoretical and historical understandings with the practices by which art is exhibited, catalogued, published and promoted. It includes an internship in which students are placed in specific institutional frameworks such as galleries, museums, libraries and publishing houses.

CORE OPTIONS

In Core Options, students choose studio/media subjects such as Photography, Film, Video, Design, Painting, Drawing or Sculpture. Students must also choose Art History and Theory electives which closely explore such issues as Aboriginal Cultures, Community Arts, the relationship between Art and the Mass Media, and studies in art historical topics such as The Renaissance to Mannerism, Early Christian and Medieval Art, Art of the Nineteenth Century and Art of the Twentieth Century. Over the course of six sessions students do a minimum of six studio/media electives, but these may be increased to nine by substitution of Studio/Media electives for up to three History/Theory electives.

Subjects

COFA 6005  Theories of the Image  S1 L3 C12

This subject introduces students to a range of theories which have constituted the visual image as an object of analysis. It draws upon knowledges from philosophy, semiotics and post-structuralism in an attempt to address substantial and perennial questions about the visual image. Areas covered are the image and 'the real'; theories of reflection, duplication, correspondence and non-correspondence; the original and the reproduction; theories of the visual as language; the image as materiality, as commodity; the image and its maker, theories of intention, authorship; the image and the viewer, theories of reception, affect and effect, theories of interpretation and inter-textuality.

COFA 6010  Theories of Art  S2 L3 C12

History and Culture

This subject charts different ways in which art history and culture have been historically constructed as fields of knowledge. It draws upon methodologies concerned with connoisseurship, periodization, formalism, iconography and iconology, historicism and historical materialism, social history, semiotics, high culture and popular culture, religiousialism and feminism. Through analysis of these methodologies, it identifies the processes of selectivity and exclusion involved in the interpretation and writing of history. These methodologies will be examined by reference to such historians as Burkhardt, Wolfflin, Panofsky, Gombrich, Roger Fry, Frederick Antal, T.J. Clark, Bernard Smith and Griselda Pollock. This subject also identifies ways in which relationship of culture to society has been theorized through philosophers such as Hegel and Nietzsche.

COFA 6015  Narratives of Western Art  S1 L3 C12

This subject is designed to cut across a wide historical field to critically examine how 'grand narratives' are formed in western art and its histories. It will focus upon the nature of historical material constituted as evidence for 'grand narratives' such as 'classicism' mimesis, allegory and symbol, images of the body, representations of the environment, as well as period and style classifications. This subject will also critically examine historical material excluded from narratives, through such issues as power relations, patronage, gender, race, popular cultures and regionalism (as distinct from the 'internationalism' assumed by the notion of 'total' history).

COFA 6020  Mythologies of the Artist: A Social History  S1 L3 C12

This subject examines the historical and social constructions of the 'artist as subject' within Western culture. Shifts that took place between circa 1400 to 1900 from the artist as craftperson to inspired creator to alienated genius are examined in relation to social, cultural and political contexts. A range of positions within Modernism are then considered, including artist as innovator, visionary, custodian of cultural values, provocateur, social engineer, some of which can be seen as transformations of earlier conceptualisations.

These historical explorations will be underpinned by an enquiry into the limits and potentialities of independent creative activity in the context of contemporary cultural situations.

COFA 6025  Images and Issues in Non-Western Art  S2 L3 C10

Non-western art forms have come to form a distinct but changing category within the historical trajectory of western art and culture especially since the development of capitalism and imperialism in the European Renaissance. This subject investigates that category from two vantage points; first, the way in which the category of nonwestern art was constructed and changed in the course of western developments, and second, the way in which certain non-western cultural systems incorporate art practices.

Topics covered include: The categorizations of non-western art in European conceptual systems, such as the 'Artificial Curiosities' of 18th century England and Scotland, the 'Primitive Art' of the 20th century, the French l'art negre, and the 16th century Portuguese feitiço. Policies of acquisition of non-western art by governments and private dealers, including the post-colonial repatriation policies developed by UNESCO are also examined as well as the development of institutions for the housing and display of nonwestern art.

The Aztec conceptualization of architecture and sacrifice and the Navah Indian incorporation of painting in shamanistic healing are among non-western cultural systems to be examined.

COFA 6030 Art and Cultural Difference

The conceptualization and evaluation of cultural difference has occupied a central position in Western art and culture, particularly since the period of colonization began. In this subject cultural difference is seen as being constructed in a series of narratives and counter-narratives about the nature of cultural difference. Topics covered include the construction of cultural difference in different periods in western painting, the way in which cultural difference has been addressed in art and literature by colonized subjects, the place of art in anti-colonial liberation movements of the 20th century, the role of art and culture in sub-altern studies, French constructions of the Orient in texture and painting and Surrealist conceptions of the child-like and the 'primitive'. The ways in which art and cultural difference are theorized by writers addressing issues of colonial struggle, will also be examined.

COFA 6035 Art and the Culture of 'Everyday Life'

This subject looks at the changing position of art in relation to the proliferation and complexity of mass culture. This includes both the aestheticization of everyday life as well as the ways in which art's communicative role has been altered by the pervasiveness of mass media. The subject gives an account of social and technological development of mass culture over the last one hundred and fifty years including the arrival of photography, film, television, computer imaging, the popular press and advertising. It examines ways in which the relationship between art and mass culture has been conceptualised by such seminal thinkers as Walter Benjamin and Theodor Adorno, as well as such theorists of 'the spectacle' as Guy Debord, Jean Baudrillard and Paul Virilio.

COFA 6040 The Philosophy of Taste

This subject explores ways in which the popularization of the notion of 'taste' in Europe represents a turning point in the history of Western subjectivity. The thesis that modernity corresponds to a 'subjectivization' of the world is developed chronologically. The principal moments of this history are explored to demonstrate how the birth of aesthetics as a special branch of philosophy cannot be separated from the notion of 'taste' which, towards the middle of the 18th century, came to be viewed as the faculty representing the essence of human subjectivity.

COFA 6045 Art in Focus

This subject provides the framework within which particular theoretical positions (examined elsewhere in the course) can be employed in the detailed examination of a period or artist or issue. The content and orientation of the subject is intended to reflect the different interests of staff, and will vary from session to session. The following are examples of subjects that might be offered:

* Cultural Imperialism, Nationalism and Regionalism
* Australian Art and Social Commitment in the 1930s
* Western Desert Painting
* Black Art in Soweto

The following is a description of one of these subjects:

Modern Paintings, Modern Life: Impressionism and Parisian Society. This subject looks critically at cliched views of Impressionism. The paintings are situated in their socio-political context and the relationships between the two are explored. Attention is drawn to Haussmann's modernization of Paris under the Second Empire and concomitant social dislocation. The increasing significance in modern urban culture of institutionalised forms of leisure - cafes, theatres, racetracks and regattas, is discussed. Both the inclusions and omissions of impressionist imagery are considered. Such issues as work and leisure, class and gender, city and country are examined in relation to works by artists including Manet, Caillebotte, Morisot, Cassatt, Degas, Monet and Renoir.

COFA 6050 Philosophies of History

This subject introduces the different ways of conceiving the domain, methods, functions and definition of history. Beginning with an examination of historicism, empiricism and hermeneutics, the subject proceeds to look at various formulations of history in terms of myth, narrative, archeology and finality. Each of these topics is illuminated by a discussion of theorists including Reid, Comte, Dilthey, Sartre, Barthes, Foucault and Baudrillard. The relevance of their writings to art values is explored.
COFA 6060 Research Project S2 CCH9 C28

This subject provides an opportunity for students to bring the range of art knowledge acquired over the previous five sessions, together into a sustained piece of research.

Students can choose to research a topic concerned with either a particular artist, art writer, art historian or philosopher, an institution or particular issues during a defined historical period, such as modernity, nationalism, orientalism or gender. Students must then, in consultation with a supervisor, conduct archival and field research. From this, a 6,000 word paper must be developed, demonstrating a cohesive methodology, critical evaluation and classification of research material, valid argumentation and writing skills, together with speculation and a clear delineation of ideas.

CONTEXTUAL STUDIES

COFA 6105 Audiences for Art S2 L2 C10

This subject exposes students to the different types of contemporary art exhibited locally - in the Art Gallery of New South Wales, dealer galleries, Contemporary Art Spaces, Artist Run Initiatives, shopping malls and other 'non-art' spaces. Designed to reflect the diversity both of art and the institutions through which it is viewed, this subject is structured around an examination of works 'in situ'. Students are encouraged to engage with work in relation to specific contexts, to consider issues of taste and value and how these are mediated by place and modes of display.

COFA 6115 Genres of Art Writing S1 L2 C8

This subject examines different genres of writing on the visual arts, with an emphasis on contemporary practices. Newspaper reviews, journal criticism, scholarly catalogue essays, 'in house' catalogue notes, 'coffee table' art books and collaborative works between artists and writers are studied in terms of their connections to other genres of writing (for example 'journalise', fictional narrative, descriptive prose). The subject looks at the working of these writings within specific cultural fields and their assumed sets of values. It also demonstrates how such categories play an active role in the shaping and production of meanings in art.

COFA 6120 Methods of Research and Writing on Art S2 L2 C8

This subject is primarily concerned with the teaching of skills necessary to conduct specific research projects. The focus is on methods of researching primary material as well as locating archival documentation, in order to evaluate and effectively utilise different forms of visual and theoretical 'evidence' for research projects. Topics include field work methods, such as interviewing techniques, together with knowledge of indexing procedures, statistical analysis and the utilization of computer resources, and critical methodologies for appraising research material. The subject also addresses the logical construction of 'a valid argument', the rhetorical promises of different genres of writing and the delineation of ideas.

COFA 6125 Internships S1 CCH2 C8

This subject is designed to place students into specific institutional frameworks for the duration of the session. Students will nominate one such institution at the beginning of the session and work for a specific period of time at the institution, which could be an art gallery, museum, art institution, journal, artist studio, library or Fine Art Department. The student shall carry out one project while at the institution, and prepare a réport at the end of the session on the project. Alternatively students may produce journal material within the College, in group projects, if such a project seems suitable in particular years.

COFA 6130 Studio/Media and Theory Seminar S1-5 L1 C6

COFA 6131 Studio/Media and Theory Seminar (COFA 6130)

COFA 6132 Studio/Media and Theory Seminar (COFA 6131-6134)

COFA 6133 Studio/Media and Theory Seminar

COFA 6134 Studio/Media and Theory Seminar

This subject is designed to intergrate students' particular Studio/Media practices with aspects of Art History and Theory addressed in each of the five session core subjects, from session one through to session five. Students examine their own practical work in this seminar, during the first five sessions, in the light of theoretical topics selected in consultation with both a Bachelor of Art Theory and Studio/Media representative.

6. Bachelor of Design – BDes

THE COURSE

This course will provide an education for people who wish to enter a range of different areas of the design profession, for example: design studios, advertising agencies, illustration, publications, interiors, theatre, exhibitions, festivals, display fittings and furnishings, decorative and applied design, film, television production and post-production.

In Year 1 students will be involved in a comprehensive and intensive range of 2D, 3D and 4D (or time based) experiences as well as the acquisition of historical, theoretical and technological skills and understandings. These include studying human individuals, society, the environment, and the application of computer skills to design.

In Years 2 and 3 students will extend their work on projects integrating the following: design in graphics/media, applied design and the design of environments. Historical, theoretical and technological contexts will be applied.

In Year 4 students' projects will integrate design studies and a one session period of work experience into a graduation project/exhibition.

This course recognises the College of Fine Arts' particular strengths, resources and requirements to provide an undergraduate course which places emphasis on an integrated approach rather than on narrow vocational specializations. These strengths are its technology and applied arts base and its relationship with industry, its Schools of Studio Art, Media Art, Art Education and Art Theory providing an input of theoretical and practical subjects; the provision of new accommodation which is designed for such a program; and the ability to offer design from a creative and flexible base.

With the growth of specialization in this century the relationship between design and the fine arts has grown more tenuous. Design has seen itself as linked to systems of industrial production and to the growth of the economy. By contrast the present cultural development and the articulation of cultural production in the character of Australia is seen through the Arts – painting, literature, music – not through design.

As the prominent economist John Kenneth Galbraith has said: 'We must cease to suppose that science and resulting technological achievement are only the edge of industrial advance. Beyond science and engineering is the artist; willing or unwillingly, he or she is vital for industrial progress in the modern world'. Reference quoted by Donald Horne (1988) Think or Perish. (Occasional paper No. 8. The Commission for the Future.)

COFA 5110  Design Studio Projects: Materials, Equipment and Processes

The aim of these subjects is to introduce and demonstrate the multi-disciplinary and integrated nature of the design process. Students will be involved in a variety of projects which address the acquisition of basic design concepts and the language, materials, techniques and processes by which they are expressed. These projects will initially concentrate on mark-making and its potential as an element in 2D design. Following the development of these understandings, subsequent projects will incorporate 3D forms, spatial and temporal considerations through sequential imagery.

COFA 5111  Design Seminar 1

In this subject students will be introduced to an analytical process whereby theoretical and philosophical understandings outlined in Contextual Studies are applied to the creative solution of a design problem. Further, students will be involved in critical analysis of solutions derived in order to develop the capacity to evaluate different design approaches.

COFA 5112  History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 1

The aim of this subject is to discuss and analyse work by different designers and artists to elucidate issues applicable to the aesthetics of design. The issues include:

- the idiosyncratic nature of certain designers' and artists' practices.
- basic philosophies of structures and materials as they are expressed as an element of design.
- the interrelationships of form, space, movement and time.
- simple structures, geometric forms and spaces as design elements.
- ideas about the human body in space.
- the experience of spaces and forms perceived through movement.

COFA 5113  Interactive Systems

The aim of this subject is to introduce and develop understandings about patterns of human habitation. The relationship between 'nature' and society is examined in the context of pressures on resources, both past and present, for their implications for the quality of life. Students will develop moral and ethical frameworks within which to evaluate problems and define strategies for solutions.

Further, to continue investigation of notions about interrelationships of 'nature', society and the urban environment, and the need for responsibility in formulating models and strategies for the future. Socio-political processes are evaluated for their adequacy to respond to human aspirations and objectives and the design of alternatives is explored.

COFA 5114  Design and Human Functioning: Individual Behaviour Ergonomics & Design

The aim of this subject is to introduce students to basic concepts in psychological studies and their application in the design context. These concepts may include:

- the psychology of perception.
- theoretical approaches to the analysis of human behaviour as it relates to design.
- anatomy.
- anthropometrics, measurement of the physical and functional characteristics of the human body.
- analysis and measurement of the relationship between the human body and the design of the macro and micro environment.

COFA 5115  Research Project

This subject provides students with the opportunity to participate in a fine art study or an area of research which informs and supplements their Core Subjects. Students may take the Research Project in another part of the University with the approval of their Course Advisers.

COFA 5116  Research Project

This subject provides students with the opportunity to participate in a fine art study or an area of research which informs and supplements their Core Subjects. Students may take the Research Project in another part of the University with the approval of their Course Advisers.

COFA 5210  Design Studio: Graphics/Media 1

The aim of this subject is to develop students' perceptual awareness through observing objects, photographing and drawing them as pattern and diagram on a flat surface. Freehand and technical drawing will be explored in the development of plan, section and elevation, together with acquiring understandings of compositional possibilities in the use of black/white, positive/negative relationships and colour theory. These understandings will be applied to graphics projects resulting in finished artwork such as is used for poster design and other advertising.

Further, students will develop an ability to identify, analyse and resolve more complex design problems as well as experience coping with various tasks and challenges simultaneously. Students will undertake projects which require them to synthesize a variety of understandings, materials and processes, extending their skills in illustration, rendering and perspective to explore the potential for graphics design. Students identify projects which arise from understandings acquired in Contextual Studies, and will experience teamwork as a means of understanding the roles of communication and organization in the design process. 2D & 3D CAD, materials and techniques in drawing or those undertaken as individual research in the Core Options will also be applied in these projects.

COFA 5211 Design Studio: F T3 C21
Applied 1
Prerequisite: COFA 5110

The aim of this subject is to develop students' perceptual awareness through cutting, folding and joining flat materials to make the simple geometric solids. The process whereby flat flexible materials are transformed into structure is analyzed for the inherent principles involved. These solids are then arranged in space and drawn freehand progressively employing tone, texture and colour to represent 3D form. The conceptual, material and sculptural understandings gained are used to develop designs in the decorative and applied arts.

Further, students will develop an awareness of compound forms. Projects will focus on various aspects of the fabricated environment, and students will construct models to examine the interrelationship of materials and fabrication techniques in their application to design. Students will undertake projects which require them to synthesize a variety of understandings, materials and processes, extending their skills in developing sculptural forms. Students identify projects which arise from understandings acquired in Contextual Studies, and will experience teamwork as a means of understanding the roles of communication and organization in the design process. 2D & 3D CAD, materials and techniques in sculpture or those undertaken as individual research in the Core Options will also be applied in these projects.

COFA 5212 Design Studio: Environments 1 F T3 C21
Prerequisite: COFA 5110

The aim of this subject is to develop students' awareness of space, scale and movement. The principles of perspective drawing are introduced and investigated through freehand and mechanically constructed drawing. The ways in which horizontal and vertical planes define and articulate space are explored through scale drawings and models of simple spaces. Students analyse and record by video and series of freehand drawings their perception of movement through a sequence of spaces. Analysis of the conceptual and material understandings gained are then applied to integrating the aesthetic, spatial and functional aspects of connected volumes as for exhibition, theatrical or promotional events.

COFA 5213 Design Seminar 2 F T2 C11
Prerequisite: COFA 5111

In this subject students will continue to be involved in an analytical process whereby theoretical and philosophical understandings generated in Contextual Studies are applied to the creative solution of a design problem. Further, students will be involved in the critical analysis of the process and solutions derived in order to develop the capacity to evaluate different design approaches and solutions. Students will be expected to articulate such evaluations.

COFA 5214 History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 2 F L1 C10
Prerequisite: COFA 5112

From general understandings gained in History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 1, more complex notions about form, space and movement are used to develop aesthetic understandings about the constructed and 'natural' environments. Students understanding of the history of society as it relates to these is expanded to encompass considerations of the characteristics and relationships between internal and external spaces. This is undertaken through a process of tracing design issues through different periods and movements to reveal the manner in which they have been expressed.

COFA 5215 Design and Social Theory F L1 C10

The aim of this subject is to introduce students to basic concepts in sociological studies and their application in the design context. These concepts may include:

- theoretical approaches to analysis of the behaviour of social groups.
- theoretical approaches to the analysis of groups within society as they relate to design for a target population.
- understandings about human cultures as expressed through artifacts. Students will be involved in observation, analysis and speculation about the potential for meaning in artifacts. They will explore a variety of examples which are historically and culturally diverse.

COFA 5216 Design and Computers 1 F T2 C10

This subject will introduce students to the computer, its languages and its potential as a design tool. They will develop basic computer literacy, keyboard skills and a variety of graphic techniques and skills.

The subject will also develop understandings and skill in:

- using 2D Computer Aided Design programs to generate graphics.
- using 3D Computer Aided Design programs to generate representations of three-dimensional design intentions.
- using software packages which enable interfacing of 2D and 3D CAD programs.
- using 2D and 3D CAD programs interfacing with hardware such as plotters and printers to produce hard copies.

Category A Subjects

GENS 4507  Mass Media and Communication  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Popular Culture, Mass Media and ‘Everyday Life”.

The power of the mass media over the last 150 years has transformed the nature of popular cultures and ‘everyday life’. The mass media has assumed such a pervasive power in contemporary societies that is is able to transfigure everyday life without our awareness or control.

By exploring the transition from industrial to post-industrial society in relation to the proliferation and complexity of technologised culture such as radio, television, video and computers, this subject will question the nature of distinctions drawn between the visual arts, popular culture and the mass media. The aestheticisation of everyday life, the coercive impact of the mass media on forms of communication, the patterns of media ownership and control, together with the social and technological development of mass culture over the last 150 years—including the arrival of photography, film, television, the popular press, advertising and the possibilities of alternative media—will be examined.

GENS 4521  Aboriginal Australia: A View of Its Past, Present and Future  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Aboriginal Australia”.

This subject is offered in order to provide an Aboriginal perspective on Aboriginal society as it was in the past, as it is at present and its prognosis for the future. It is designed to provide an equiponderate account where previously the Aboriginal contribution was either mis-stated, misrepresented or completely ignored.

In presenting a broad overview of Aboriginal Australia from antiquity to the present day, contemporary Aboriginal issues such as land rights, political movements and relationships between Aboriginals and law can be addressed from an evolutionary context, rather than from reactive judgement based solely on the face value of the end product.

GENS 4529  Ecosystems, Technology and Human Habitation  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Art, the Community and the Environment”.

What relationship does a community bear to its natural environment? What constitutes the identities of a community and how are they articulated? How important is it for the identities of a community to be represented through art and culture? How can art and culture help convey the identities of a community and its relationship to a particular environment? If the artist is an ‘outsider’, how is this to be negotiated?

This subject will explore the formation of communal identities through labour, leisure, architecture, visual communication, art, language, the natural environment and the functions of everyday life. It will examine ways in which the visual arts, architecture, landscape architecture and a range of cultures from theatre to rock concerts have articulated and shaped community identity. It will also consider the politics involved in such interventions, ranging from the co-called imposition of the ‘turd in the plaza’, earthworks to define remote environments and their relationship to ecology, to the emergence of community arts programmes designed to integrate cultural identities with different forms of urban and rural habitation.

GENS 4531  Australian Society and Culture  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Race, Nation and Multiculturalism in Australian Society”.

From first contact, through colonisation, the construction of Federation and a modern nation, post WWII mass European immigration, to modern conceptions of a multicultural Australia at home in Asia, issues of race and nation have been crucial to Australian culture and society.

In examining responses to the Aboriginal inhabitants, relations between English and Irish settlers, notions of British empire, attitudes to and fear of the Asian north, reactions to Chinese settlement, White Australia, the rise of non-British European immigration, conceptualisations of race and nation will be explored. Reactions to U.S. cultural dominance, the impact of recent Asian settlement including ‘boat people’ and other refugees, the emulation of Asian economic success and the official policy of multiculturalism, are also issues to be questioned in conjunction with formations of identity and Otherness.

GENS 4532  Australia and the Development of the World Economy  S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Regional and International Perspectives on Australian Culture: Australia and the World at Large”.

Is Australia ‘the lucky country’ as Donald Horne proclaimed in the 1960s, rich in natural wealth with a stridently independent identity unburdened by colonial traditions, or is it merely a new Britannia, America’s 52nd State? How does Australia’s economic performance rate within the world economy and can it compete with computerized technology? When compared to the global market dominance of Japan and the U.S., is it a ‘Banana Republic’? How do Australians see themselves in relation to cultures outside Australia? Conversely how do those cultures see Australians?

This subject will not only investigate the roles played by world trade, manufacturing and commerce in shaping Australian society. It will also consider the ‘cultural cringe’, how Australia may internalise the tyranny of distance and address its so-called provincialism problem as well as its early penal history. Australian identities in relation to others will be explored through these issues as well as ways Australians are seen to represent themselves through a range of cultures from Dame Edna to Biennales.

GENS 5515 The Role of the Arts in the Human Future S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Creativity and Conception, Labour and Production: The Artist as Producer”.

Ways in which the position of the artist has been constructed, through history, by comparison to other producers of knowledge and objects, such as scientists, engineers, technicians, manufacturers and industrial workers, will be examined in the subject.

Conceptions of the artist as innovator, visionary, alienated genius, custodian of cultural values, provocateur and social engineer will be explored in relation to other forms of labour, within the context of politico-social transformations in Western and Non-Western cultures.

Category B Subjects

GENS 5050 Individual and Social Psychology S1 or S2 L2 C8

How is an individual identity formed? How is an individual identity defined within social and working relations? Through an exploration of perception and the categorization of stimuli according to personal schemata and attribution processes, this subject will consider the contribution psychology and art can make towards understanding the formulation and nature of cognitive structures that effect the course of individual’s lives.

The representation of unconscious motives which underlie an individual’s conscious beliefs and behaviour will be examined through art, conceived as the expression of individual and collective cultures. Through such an examination, this subject will then consider whether art is an effect of possible perceptions or an expression of the congruence between the internal and external realities of an individual.

GENS 5180 The Use of Language Images and Symbols S1 or S2 L2 C8

This subject may be undertaken as one of two different streams.

Stream 1: This stream is entitled “Culture and Communication, Disciplines and Boundaries”.

Culture is not simply an homogenous thing. The sub-divisions of culture into separate disciplines and the arts has been the product of a long historical development, effecting ways in which the different arts have been perceived as related to or different from each other. At the same time, whilst the partitioning of the arts has seemed securely established by the techniques of making (metiers) and the specific requirement of the different materials used, there exists a multitude of connections between them.

This subject will address a range of cultural disciplines, including theatre, dance, poetry, music in terms of the interrelationship between such disciplines and the so-called ‘Fine Arts’. Questions of the ways in which disciplinary boundaries are constructed, the cultural status of disciplines, the nature of attempts at cross-disciplinary and inter-disciplinary interactions, the effects of new and often hybrid art forms will be examined. The reciprocal influences of such cross-cultural disciplines as the picture-poem (‘picturia poesis’) or the symphonic painting will be explored in conjunction with the recent development of more synthetic art forms such as installation, dance-theatre or concrete poetry—the ultimate aim of this subject being the broadening of artistic horizons and a hermeneutical understanding of the inter-dependency of all artistic disciplines within the field of Post Modern Culture.

Stream 2: This stream is entitled “Culture, Language and Knowledge”.

How do we know? How do we acquire knowledge? How is knowledge defined? This subject introduces basic concepts interrelating culture, language and knowledge and explores the relationship between perception and knowledge. What is the relationship between language, language acquisition and knowledge? What is the relationship between cultural context, language and the perception of and forms of knowledge? What is the relationship between verbal and non-verbal forms of knowledge in different cultural contexts?

These questions will be addressed in this subject through the introduction of basic concepts in philosophy, art history and anthropology.

GENS 5522 Changing Conceptions of Human Nature and Well-Being S1 or S2 L2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “The Body, Gender, Sexuality and Pleasure”.

This subject introduces students to contemporary theories and philosophies which investigate and problematise the relationship between the body, gender, sexuality and pleasure.

The last 25 years has witnessed an efflorescence of investigations into and theorisation about the relationship between the body, gender, sexuality and pleasure. This theorisation has developed in relationship to feminism, doconstructive theories, structuralism, theories of representation and media developments. The contributions of each of these arenas to the relations between sexuality and pleasure will be explored through an examination of the visual arts, in relation to theoretical and philosophical texts.

GENS 5523 The Pursuit of Human Rationality

This stream of the subject is entitled “Art and Science: Imagination and the Pursuit of Rationalism”.

Differing notions of rationality have been dominant at different stages in western history, while non-western societies have had varying conceptions of reason. One major contrast, at least in the West, has been that between scientistic rationality and art. Since the late 18th century, art has been linked not to knowledge, in a public or intersubjective form, but to beauty and as the expression of an imaginative and subjective knowledge, different from, but complementary to, perception and thought.

This subject will examine the ways in which art and science have been understood as distinct or even opposed forms of activity. Ways in which the science/non science distinction has been established, competing notions of the bases for knowledge (perception, logic, imagination, creativity), accounts of art as subjective, private and unobservable, notions of the imagination and art as a form of knowledge will be investigated.

GENS 5524 Beliefs, Values and the Search for Meaning

This subject may be undertaken as one of two different streams.

Stream 1: This stream is entitled “Religion, Culture and Belief”.

The secularisation of the world or its disenchanted (as articulated by Weber) has coincided with a dissemination of the traditional systems of beliefs that used to be able to provide people with a generalised account of the world in which they live, to give them “the big picture”. As the Enlightenment dispelled the illusion of divine wisdom as a monopoly of the Christian Church, or any other similarly established dogma, one of the main characteristics of modern society which began to emerge from this time has been the pluralism and eclecticism which characterise religious life and belief systems.

It is the complex manner in which our multicultural society integrates and assimilates heteronomous fragments of religious narratives, both western and non western, in contemporary art that will be examined in this subject.

Stream 2: This stream is entitled “Evaluation, Taste and Judgement”.

This subject will be concerned with the history of Taste and the different methods by means of which it has been thought possible to form judgement in this century. The underlying value systems of artistic evaluation will be scrutinised on a critical basis and students will be introduced to the different and often conflicting theories (aesthetic and hermeneutical, semiological and psychoanalytical) which propound to have arrived at a clear understanding of the mechanics or the metaphysics of artistic judgement.

The overriding aim of this subject is to show how no judgement of taste can possibly be thought of as value-free. It will then examine how the evaluation of works of art inevitably entails a projection of beliefs and assumptions of meaning, which are grounded in ideology.

GENS 5525 The Computer, Its Impact, Significance and Uses

This stream of the subject is entitled “New Technologies, Now Perceptions”.

Now technologies, particularly computer based, have dramatically transformed the ways in which people perceive, understand and deal with their environments. Although this may be understood as simply an extension of the powers of human perception and understanding it is just as much a transformation or mutation of these powers. From the invention of photography in the 19th century through to the increasing use of electronic image manipulation, which bypass the optical and chemical processes that physically define photography, the links between image and reality, the so-called “truth” of the image has come under increasing question. Electronic imagery, whether on computer screen, television, or hidden in film or photography, has become ubiquitous, transforming the way we experience our world. The use of electronic and computer technology by artists and future possibilities such as virtual reality will also be examined.

The subject enables students to identify the objectives of an exhibition and develop their understanding of, and familiarity with, the design process. This includes examining all relevant aspects related to exhibition initiation; design and development; project planning and design management; spatial requirements and evaluation.

Specific attention is paid to the development of design management skills; knowledge of presentation in support of works being displayed; production and installation management, materials and processes; budget formulation and controls; the critical evaluation of the impact of an exhibition and the engagement of consultants.

COFA 8133  Research Paper
Research topics are chosen in consultation with a supervisor. These topics relate to the internship and allow for the focussing of student's investigative and analytical skills. The 10,000 word research paper may include the use of film, video and audio tape or photographic documentation where relevant.

Elective Subjects

COFA 8122  Aesthetics and Criticism: Modernism/Postmodernism
Through an exploration of aesthetic theory and critical writing concerned with issues of Modernity and Postmodernity, this subject considers the complexities embraced by such subsuming terms as Modernism and Postmodernism. An understanding of particular writers, theorists and artists, their historical contexts together with their discourses and debates will be encouraged through an examination of the following topics:

Modernism and the representation of modern life; modernism and the experience of modernity; modernity, irrationality and
COFA 8128 The Development of Art Criticism in Australia

This subject examines the history of art criticism and writing about art in an Australian context, and considers how these practices reflect, diagnose and affect the nature of the visual arts.

The subject takes a combination of approaches. There is a constant evaluation of recent art criticism from a variety of sources, and a questioning of what actually constitutes criticism. Documents examined include daily newspapers, specialist art magazines, television and radio programs.

At the same time the subject goes back to the start of writing about art in Australia and looks at the practice from the beginning of European settlement to recent times in an historical context.

COFA 8129 Writing and Documentation of the Visual Arts

If criticism is writing from the perspective of the observer, this subject is about the kinds of writing that those working in art institutions most commonly undertake: writing from the perspective of the institution.

Questions to be considered include: the current debate on captions, writing for children and the general public; research techniques and scholarly catalogues, press kits and media management; and different types of catalogues.

The method of study in this subject is very much "hands on". Students are given a number of weekly writing exercises as well as a major assignment. In addition students edit and lay out an edition of Artwrite, a magazine of student writing.

COFA 8130 Art Galleries and Collections in Australia

This subject introduces students to the origins of Australian public art galleries and collections and major developments in their history. Included are the Australian National Gallery, the Museum of Contemporary Art, the Art Gallery of New South Wales and other State art galleries as well as a range of regional and university collections. The functions and roles of various public art gallery departments are considered, including curatorial areas, registration, display, conservation, public programs, education and publications. Emphasis is placed on connoisseurship and ethics in the profession of art gallery management and curatorial practice. Concepts and practices in the areas of trusteeship, patronage and sponsorship of public collections are investigated.

Inquiry into selected private and corporate art collections includes techniques of acquisition, display, public access provision, conservation and storage. The role of art in public places and work spaces is considered, including study of Sydney City Council's "Open Museum", Artbank and the Federal and New South Wales Parliament House collections.

COFA 8121 Principles of Conservation

This subject examines conservation principles related to two and three-dimensional art works, artefacts, film and video. It develops an awareness of the role of conservation in the preservation and management of collections of cultural property, identifies existing or potential problems threatening the stability of materials found in public and private collections, encourages the making of informed decisions about the need for professional specialist consultation with regard to conservation treatment, and identifies the standards and ethics of conservation practice in both institutional and private laboratories.

Specific attention is paid to the causes of deterioration; conservation practice from its earliest development to the present; identification of artists' materials by visual examination; gallery techniques for controlling the environment; light levels, air pollution, insect and fungal growth; safe techniques for the handling, display, storage, packing and transport of art works, the philosophy of conservation and its role in raising public awareness through education.

Internship

COFA 8127 Internship

Students are required to undertake a project based internship consisting of a minimum of 90 hours. The internship may involve more than one host institution. Internships enable students to gain practical, supervised experience of gallery management, curatorial practice, art writing and all other work areas related to the course. The internship is ungraded but successful completion requires the submission of reports by the host institution and student. Students are also required to attend an interview with lecturers involved in the program.

Students are encouraged to see their art in the context of contemporary developments and to examine various aesthetic propositions. The course can be seen as a "rounding out" of a student's years at Art College. Students are encouraged to develop a professional approach to their own creative endeavours at all times and the course aims to assist in the transition from student to practising artist in the community.

Media Art Program

The programs of seminars, tutorials and critiques offered by the School of Media Art extend over a full calendar year.

A discrete program of lecture/seminars by visiting specialists will be offered during the intersession period to MArt candidates. Attendance is required.

Participation is also required in an exhibition/presentation of works in progress within the intersession period. Critiques, discussions and tutorials will be ancillary to this presentation.

Attendance and participation is required in the program of presentations by MFA (Research) candidates, known as the "MFA Seminars".

Assessment during the session is progressive and is the responsibility of the class lecturers.

Final assessment will be on work produced during the course and shall be presented at an exhibition or showing and assessed by a panel. This panel will consist of the lecturers within the subject areas, plus other experts appropriate to the field of study, either from within or outside the School or College.

The Final Presentation will take place at the end of the February of the year following registration for the final session of the course. The exhibition will be public and held on campus.

Included for assessment, a substantial written/documentary component must be submitted. This component should be an annotated record of working process and areas of concern.

Studio Art Program

Students will be required to undertake two units of the Graduate Lecture and of Tutorial/Critique or Seminar and a sequence of four subjects in their Core Elective.

Students will be required to participate in an approved concluding Presentation/Exhibition. The work should be presented in a manner, place and for a duration determined by the Higher Degree Committee on the recommendation of the School of Studio Art Committee.

The final presentation shall include a substantial written and appropriately illustrated component, being an annotated record of the working process and areas of concern.

As this course is considered to be intensive and rigorous in involvement, students are expected to maintain their unsupervised Studio Practice during mid-session and intersession periods, although not necessarily on campus.

(3) The thesis shall comply with the following requirements:

(a) it must be an original and significant contribution to knowledge of the subject;

(b) the greater proportion of the work described must have been completed subsequent to enrolment for the degree;

(c) it must be written in English except that a candidate in the Faculty of Arts may be required by the Committee to write a thesis in an appropriate foreign language;

(d) it must reach a satisfactory standard of expression and presentation;

(e) it must consist of an account of the candidate's own research but in special cases work done conjointly with other persons may be accepted provided the Committee is satisfied about the extent of the candidate's part in the joint research.

(4) The candidate may not submit as the main content of the thesis any work or material which has previously been submitted for a university degree or other similar award but may submit any work previously published whether or not such work is related to the thesis.

(5) Four copies of the thesis shall be presented in a form which complies with the requirements of the University for the preparation and submission of theses for higher degrees.

(6) It shall be understood that the University retains the four copies of the thesis submitted for examination and is free to allow the thesis to be consulted or borrowed. Subject to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1968, the University may issue the thesis in whole or in part, in photostat or microfilm or other copying medium.

6. Examination

(1) There shall be not fewer than three examiners of the thesis, appointed by the Academic Board on the recommendation of the Committee, at least two of whom shall be external to the University.

(2) At the conclusion of the examination each examiner shall submit to the Committee a concise report on the thesis and shall recommend to the Committee that:
(a) the thesis merits the award of the degree;

(b) the thesis merits the award of the degree subject to minor corrections as listed being made to the satisfaction of the head of school;

(c) the thesis requires further work on matters detailed in my report. Should performance in this further work be to the satisfaction of the Higher Degree Committee, the thesis would merit the award of the degree;

(d) the thesis does not merit the award of the degree in its present form and further work as described in my report is required. The revised thesis should be subject to re-examination;

(e) the thesis does not merit the award of the degree and does not demonstrate that resubmission would be likely to achieve that merit.

(3) If the performance in the further work recommended under (2)(c) above is not to the satisfaction of the Committee, the Committee may permit the candidate to re-present the same thesis and submit to further examination as determined by the Committee within a period specified by it but not exceeding eighteen months.

(4) The Committee shall, after consideration of the examiners' reports and the results of any further examination, recommend whether or not the candidate may be awarded the degree. If it is decided that the candidate be not awarded the degree the Committee shall determine whether or not the candidate be permitted to resubmit the thesis after a further period of study and/or research.

7. Fees

A candidate shall pay such fees as may be determined from time to time by the Council.
