Foreword

Since joining the University of New South Wales in 1990, the College of Fine Arts has made a sincere and conscious attempt to adjust to a new environment and a different culture. This has been done with one basic aim, that of providing the most supportive structure to the best range of quality art and design courses for those wishing to study at CoFA. Those fortunate enough to gain a place are therefore assured that the quality of staff and resources is the best available, in a time of fiscal restraint, for executant and theoretical studies in visual art, art education, art history, art theory, art administration, and integrated design.

The College, is a small faculty compared to many in UNSW, but it is large compared to other visual arts faculties and colleges in other universities in Australia. Our size is conditioned by the acknowledgment that resources are finite and the College seeks to maintain the highest level in its course offerings, a quality for which it is now widely recognised. With four undergraduate degrees, each providing opportunity for honours level study, and twelve graduate degrees (masters by coursework, masters by research and doctorates), the range and potential depth of art and design studies is greater than at any other art college/faculty in the country. Of this we are most proud and that pride is shared by our graduates. If you are joining CoFA in 1994 for the first time either at undergraduate or postgraduate level or you are continuing your studies with us, then on behalf of all the staff of the College, may I offer you our best wishes and our hope that your time with the College, will be both productive and enjoyable.

K. B. Reinhard
Dean and Director
The Schools of the College of Fine Arts
The University of New South Wales

The College of Fine Arts consists of four schools and one department, divided into a number of related subject study areas through which the subjects and courses of the College are offered.

The School of Studio Art
The School of Studio Art consists of the studies of Painting, Drawing, Printmaking (including etching, lithography, relief and silk screen printing).

The School of Media Art
The School of Media Art is comprised of the studies of Photography, Four Dimensional Studies (including film, multi-media computing, sound performance and installation and video), Three Dimensional Studies (including clay, construction, installation and spaces and jewellery and sculpture).

The School of Art Education
This school comprises studies in Art Education.

The School of Art Theory
This school includes studies in art history and theory and art administration.

The Department of Design Studies
This department comprises studies in design and ceramics.

The Clement Semmler Library
The Clement Semmler Library is situated above the Ivan Dougherty Gallery. It was named after Dr. Clement Semmler O.B.E., D.Litt., M.A., distinguished writer and critic and past Chairman of the Alexander Mackie College of Advanced Education Council.

The library supports the teaching, learning and research functions of the College of Fine Arts by providing access to information through its collections and services.

The collection includes books, periodicals and an extensive range of audio-visual resources including slides, video cassettes and sound recordings. Services provided include CD-ROM and online database searching as well as in-house indexing of periodicals and audio-visual material which enhances access to this material. A professional reference service is offered and emphasis is placed on assisting users to make best use of the information services available and to gain lasting learning skills.

As a member of UNILINC (formerly CLANN), the library is able to offer the benefits of network technology, such as shared online and CD-ROM catalogues, as well as reciprocal borrowing rights with other UNILINC libraries. Reciprocal borrowing with the University's libraries at Kensington and St. George is also available to students and staff of the College.

The Ivan Dougherty Gallery
The Ivan Dougherty Gallery was established in 1977 by the Alexander Mackie College of Advanced Education at 200 Cumberland Street, The Rocks and was named after Major General Sir Ivan Dougherty, Chairman of the first College Council.

When funds were made available to refurbish the Albion Avenue Public School built in 1894, part of the ground floor was developed as the Ivan Dougherty Gallery's new premises. These were opened on 16 June 1981. In 1991 the Gallery celebrated its 10th anniversary in Paddington.

The purpose of the Gallery is to provide an educational and cultural resource for the students and staff of the College of Fine Arts, The University of New South Wales and the general public. The Gallery mounts ten to twelve group or thematic exhibitions per year of Australian and International contemporary art, occasionally with an historical component incorporating all media and disciplines: painting, sculpture, printmaking, drawing, design, installation, photography, video and time based art.

A forum is organized in conjunction with each exhibition, which facilitates an exchange of ideas between artists, theoreticians, curators and students. In addition, floor talks on the exhibitions are staged in the Gallery for the benefit of students and the wider community.

Committed to stretching the boundaries of current art practice, the Gallery also coordinates Live Actions, a series of events and performances by contemporary Australian performers and performance artists.

Gallery hours; Mon-Fri 10.00 am – 5.00 pm; Sat 1.00 pm – 5.00 pm. Closed public holidays.
The CoFA Gallery

The CoFA Gallery is the on-campus student gallery of the College of Fine Arts.

The aims of the Gallery are to provide an environment where students can gain professional experience in gallery procedures as exhibitors and where Art Administration students can develop their curatorial and management skills.

The Gallery provides a public space for viewing recent works by students currently undertaking studies in the broad range of studio based courses offered within the College. In the case of competitive or sponsored exhibitions, work by students from other institutions can also form part of the Gallery’s program.

Gallery hours: Mon-Fri 10.00 am – 5.00 pm (during session time only). Closed public holidays.

General Information

The Student & Staff Advisory Service

Counselling

The Counselling service is available free of charge to students and staff experiencing any personal difficulties arising inside or outside the College.

Students and staff present with a range of problems including:

* Financial, e.g. Austudy, loans;
* Administrative, e.g. withdrawal, special consideration, appeals;
* Vocational, e.g. career change, interview skills;
* Academic, e.g. essay writing, seminar presentation, teaching skills, communication;
* Interpersonal Relationships; and
* Other stresses which are affecting their ability to fulfil their potential as a student or a member of staff.

All consultations are confidential. If the counsellor is unable to assist, referrals can be made to appropriate persons or organizations.

EEO Counselling

At the College of Fine Arts human rights to work, study and gain qualifications without suffering discrimination on the grounds of sex (including sexual harassment), race, marital status, pregnancy, impairment, homosexuality, political affiliations, views or beliefs or religious affiliations, views or beliefs are protected in accordance with the law.

Where a student or staff member believes that they may be experiencing unlawful discrimination they might wish to have confidential discussions with the Personnel Officer. The Personnel Officer is trained in the provisions of advice on anti-discrimination legislation and processes, counselling and conflict resolution techniques.

The Student Association

All students of the College are members of the Student’s Association of which the Student Representative Council is the elected executive and is a chapter of The University of New South Wales Student’s Union. The aims of the Association are to provide students with services and facilities that will assist them in dealing with their political, philosophical, academic and practical needs within the College community.

The Association is financed by a compulsory fee collected by the University on behalf of the Association as part of the enrolment procedure and is administered by the Executive and staff.

The Association is involved with the organization of activities that include an on-campus Art Materials Store; an off-campus gallery, Arthaus, lunch time activities (barbeques, films, bands, guest speakers). It supports clubs and societies such as The Temporal Visual Arts Society and the Christian Fellowship and encourages students to involve themselves in interest groups on and off campus.

Through representations on College boards and committees the Association may communicate with the Dean and Director on matters affecting the student body and plays an active role in the decision making process of the College.

Fees and Charges

In 1993 a Student Association fee of $252 for each full-time student and $248 for each part-time student was charged at the commencement of the academic year. This fee may increase in 1994.

Higher Education Contribution Scheme

In 1989 the Commonwealth Government introduced the Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS). Under this scheme students are required to pay part of the cost of their higher education.

All students enrolling in 1993 incurred a liability for each session in which they registered. In 1993 the liability for one session of full-time study (i.e. standard load) was $1,164. This amount is indexed each year.
Students registering in subjects to a credit point total greater or less than the standard load per session will incur a liability greater or less than the full-time liability amount in proportion to the credit point variation.

Students have the choice to pay up-front at enrolment and receive a 25% discount or to defer their payment and pay through the taxation system. In the case of a deferred payment, no payment is required until the student’s taxable income exceeds a threshold value, which is determined by the Australian Taxation Office. The threshold for the 1992/1993 financial year was $27,748. This amount is also indexed each year.

Further details about HECS and its requirements can be obtained from the Student Administration office.

Grievance Resolution Procedures

It is inevitable that from time to time cases of conflict and grievance will arise. To provide a means by which contentious decisions or disputes may be resolved grievance resolution procedures have been established.

In many cases problems can be solved by informal discussions with the appropriate member of academic or general staff however in each school of the College a member of academic staff known as the grievance resolution officer has been appointed.

At the commencement of session one a pamphlet describing the grievance resolution procedures and listing the names of these officers will be published.

An aggrieved student may initiate a preliminary meeting to outline the grievance, first with a staff member concerned (who may, in the case of a research student be the student’s supervisor). If not resolved, then

An approach should be made to the Grievance Resolution Officer for the school who will attempt to resolve the matter. If not resolved, then

The aggrieved party may approach the Head of School/Department but only on the basis of a written submission by the complainant. The Head of School/Department will ensure that the parties involved in the complaint are consulted and will attempt to resolve the matter. The Head of School/Department may seek the advice of an appropriate school committee. The decision of the Head of School/Department will be made in writing and will set out the reasons for the decision.

If a postgraduate student is still aggrieved, he or she may approach the Presiding Member of the Faculty who will undertake the same procedures as outlined for the head of school/department.

A student who remains aggrieved may request in writing that the matter be considered by the Dean and Director who will contact the aggrieved parties to ensure that all reasonable solutions to the problem have been evaluated.

General Rules and Procedures for Students

The procedures of the University in relation to admission, progression, assessment, leave, exclusion etc. apply to students of the College of Fine Arts and are published in the University Calendar.

1. GENERAL

1.1 It is the responsibility of the student to complete all requirements of the course in which that student is enrolled in order to qualify for the award.

1.2 It is the student's responsibility to be acquainted with the contents of official notices displayed from time to time on notice boards designated for this purpose.

2. STUDENT IDENTIFICATION CARD

2.1 All students are issued with an identification card at enrolment after payment of compulsory fees. This card must be carried during attendance at the College and must be presented on request to an authorised officer of the College, to protect the student and the College.

2.2 Students should note that the number on the card is their student number, which should be quoted on all correspondence with the College.

2.3 Loss of or damage to a Student Identification Card should be reported to the Dean and Director by completion of a Replacement of Student Card form available from the College Student Administration office. A new card will be issued on payment of the prescribed replacement charge.

2.4 The Student Identification Card must be returned to the College when a student resigns, is granted leave of absence, or is excluded.

2.5 Students should not allow their card to be borrowed by any other person for any purpose.

3. PAYMENT OF FEES

3.1 As part of enrolment, students are required to pay a compulsory Students’ Union and Students’ Association Fee. Students are required to make this payment annually at the scheduled enrolment/registration period prior to commencement of the academic year.

3.2 A fee for late enrolment shall apply. The fee is payable by any student completing enrolment after the scheduled enrolment/registration period unless the fee is waived by the Dean and Director.

(2) for second and subsequent infringements or offences, an Authorised College Officer will record vehicle registration number, issue a 'second' parking notice and attach a wheel clamp to the vehicle. The driver shall then be required to pay a minimum fine of $50.

Electives

COFA 2104  Cross Media and Interdisciplinary Theory  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact:  Bill Seaman, Pamela Hansford

This subject has been constructed to address a range of 'new' arts within their political, economic and social context, as they emerged from the late 1960s.

Installation, performance, environmental art such as earthworks, electronic art, and Feminist art practices comprise some of the range of 'new' art to be addressed.

COFA 2105  Seminar in Women's Studies 1  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

COFA 2106  Seminar in Women's Studies 2

COFA 2107  Seminar in Women's Studies 3

Staff Contact:  Liz Ashburn, Pamela Hansford

This subject may be repeated up to a total of 3 times.

This subject will examine recent feminist art practices in Australia and overseas. The gaining of an understanding of feminism will be central to the course. Feminist theories will be explored and applied to the work of artists and art historians. Issues such as the representation of the body, transgressive practices and censorship will be considered. The student will be encouraged to apply their study of women artists to develop a more complete understanding of their own art practice and of art production generally.

COFA 2125  Issues and Theories of Film  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact:  George Alexander, John Gillies

This course will examine classical film aesthetics, and a range of theoretical perspectives from the recent past. This will include readings from the work of Eisenstein, Bazin, Kracauer, as well as auteurist theory, and contemporary inter-disciplinary approaches.

COFA 2132  From The Age of Absolutism to The Enlightenment: Mannerism, the Baroque and the Art of Revolution  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact:  Fay Brauer, Alan Krell

This moment in European history – a moment precipitating the colonisation of Australia – often regarded as marking the transition between feudalism and the modern State, will be explored through the centralization of absolute power by such monarchs as Louis XIV, the relationship between dynastic control, Enlightenment ideas and the growth of parliament and ways this lead to reform, revolution and 'democracy.'

The interrelationship between Mannerist and Baroque art, within the 17th and 18th century shift of centre from Italy to France, will be examined in this context, together with ways such art became displaced by new concepts and genres of culture and revolutionary art.

COFA 2136  The Avant-Garde and The Academy, The Politics of Colonialism and The Other in early 19th Century Europe.  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact:  Alan Krell

Following Napoleon’s blaze of European and colonial conquests and his downfall, a waning of revolutionary fervour marked early 19th century reaction in Europe, in which church, monarchy and such authority institutions as The Academy for Arts became reactivated, but subsequently contested.

The schism between Neoclassism and Romanticism, concepts of art-for-art's-sake, oppositions to academic art, the rise of 'Orientalism', the emergence of photography and formations of an 'avant-garde' are issues which will be examined in this context, through such artists as Ingres, Canova, Goya, Turner, Daumier and Delacroix.
This subject has been constructed to explore the interrelationship between the rapidly changing conditions of technological modernity and modernist cultures.

This exploration will be undertaken through a close examination of individuals and particular groups of artists, such as the Cubists, Futurists, German Expressionists, Surrealists and Russian Constructivists, and the ways in which their art affirms, denies or interrogates modernity.

COFA 2140 Modernism and the Twentieth Century Experience of Modernity

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

This subject is designed to enable students to gain an understanding of the theory of the sublime, myth, structure, archetypal patterns of symbolism and the mythopoeic imagination.

Theories of the sublime, myth, structure, archetypal symbolism and a critical discussion of salvation and its symbolic expression will form the focus of the subject.

COFA 2196 Art Metaphysics and the Sublime

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

This subject will examine the major ways in which the photographic image and the social practices of photography have been theorised. Semiotic and post-structural approaches to reading photographs will be given particular attention. Other areas to be covered include aesthetic theories of photography, theories about the 'nature' of photography, context and meaning, photography and truth, documentary realism and critiques of realism.

COFA 2205 Critical Theories of Photography

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

Within a shift from remote monastic settlements into towns from the 12th century, the emergence of urban cultures will be examined in relation to the organization of the artist's workshop, a domestication of religious imagery, the flourishing of fresco narrative, the emergence of secular patronage and its ramifications upon new genres of art and culture.

Humanism and the recording of the Antique, Nominalism and Neoplatonic philosophy, expansions of trade routes and global exploration, together with the rise of European and 'New World' power in such centres as Italy, Holland, Portugal and Spain, will define an historical context for the examination of Renaissance art and culture, and artists as diverse as Donatello, Piero della Francesca, Holbein, Jan Van Eyck and Bosch.

COFA 2212 Early Christian, Islamic and Other Cultures

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

Starting with the displacement of Rome by Ravenna and Constantine's Byzantium as the new centre of Christianity, the power of the Romanized Christian Empire will be traced, in conjunction with the flourishing of Early Christian, Carolingian, Romanesque and Gothic art and culture, until the fall of Constantinople to the Turks in 1453.

The shift from a rational scientific and materialist philosophy of ancient Greece and Rome to Christian faith and spiritual values, articulated by such theologians as St. Augustine and scholastics as Abelard and Thomas Aquinas, will be examined in relation to Mohammed's conquest of Mecca, the Muslim faith and the spread of the Islamic Empire.

COFA 2215 Australian Cinema

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

Egyptian pharaoh pyramids, tombs and culture of death, the sculpture and friezes of Assyria and Mesopotamia will be examined in relation to the break-up of the Mycaenaen world and matriarchal cultures, together with the shifts of dominance in the Eastern Mediterranean by the Persian Empire, until its defeat by the Greeks.

The supremacy of the Athenian Greeks, their rule of demos (democracy) and ethos (ethics) will be explored in relation to their new Classical Order articulated through temples and sculpture, philosophy, poetry and drama, together with the shift to Alexandria and Hellenism, and the ultimate displacement and appropriation of Greek culture by the Roman Empire.

Social and cultural analysis will be applied to the work of a variety of women artists. Art Historical perspectives will be subjected to a feminist reading.

COFA 2232 Koori and Associated Cultures
Staff Contact:  Fay Brauer

'Koori' rather than 'Aboriginal' is the term used by indigenous people to emphasise their distinct identity. It is a generic term used long ago by the peoples of the central coast of what is now New South Wales. It has been widely adopted by the people of south eastern Australia. In other parts of Australia other terms are used.

Today we are witnessing transformations of Koori and other associated cultures. They have strong roots in tradition but they have adapted, and continue to adapt, to changing conditions and external influences. The purpose of this subject is to examine developments through a series of lectures by Koori artists and other relevant guest speakers.

Staff Contact:  Diane Losche, Joan Grounds

This subject will critically interrogate the shifting positions of sculpture in relation to other art practices, particularly from the late 1960s.

COFA 2238 Histories and Theories of Ceramics
Staff Contact:  Diane Losche, Peter Travis

COFA 2250 Colonialism and Art: Inventing the “Other”

Staff Contact: Diane Losche

This subject will introduce students to issues involved in looking at the cultural activities and artefacts of non-Western cultures. The ways in which Western knowledge has sought to ‘invent’ other cultures in its own image or as its antithesis will be examined. The gaining of an understanding of the concept of ethnocentrism and colonialism will be central to the course, as will the operation of the notion of ‘the primitive’ in modernist art.

COFA 2251 Orientalism and Primitivism

Staff Contact: Diane Losche

COFA 2254 The Artist and the Writer

Staff Contact: Joanna Mendelssohn

The aim of the first unit of this two session course is to enable students to understand and appreciate some of the writings on art by poets, novelists or essayists which have been particularly influential in the shaping of artistic tastes and values.

Reading the works of 18th and 19th century literary figures such as Diderot, Hazlitt, Goethe, Baudelaire, Ruskin, Wilde et al. students will be expected to develop an understanding of the interdependence of art and literature, as well as its implication for both artists and writers. To illustrate the point, the literary production of visual artists such as Delacroix or Courbet will also come under close scrutiny.

COFA 2255 Writing on Art

Staff Contact: Joanna Mendelssohn

Following on from COFA 2254, the second unit of this two-session course will be concerned with the works of seminal 20th century writers who, from a nonphilosophical (systematic) perspective, have contributed to the definition of contemporary art and its understanding. With the works of poets (Rilke, Wallace Stephens or Paul Celan), novelists (Hermann Bloch, Kafka, Proust, Breton), essayists (Valery, Benjamin, Steiner), or artists (Geganne, Braque or Klee), students will be given a wide range of writings on art to explore.

COFA 2259  Terra Australis: First Contact, Aboriginal Art and the Cultures of Settlement  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact:  Joanna Mendelssohn

As is now well documented, the colonization of Australia did not directly follow from early European explorers and traders voyages to Terra Australis, the great unknown land lying in the southern hemisphere, but from the political, economic and social circumstances of George III's England at the end of the Enlightenment. Whilst myths of Terra Australis will be examined in this Subject, the prime focus will be upon the process of colonisation, the institution of a penal colony and its impact upon the indigenous Aboriginal population. The emergence of a colonial culture with such artists as Joseph Lyceid, will also be examined, together with the shifts in society and culture, and representations of gender, aborigines and 'migrant races' which occurred during the Gold Rush period with such professional artists as John Glover, Eugene Von Guerard and Adelaide Ironside, and such growing patrons as the Stare's Galleries.

As this subject is designed as preliminary to Australian Post-War Art and Culture, formations of nationalism leading to Federation will also be explored in relation to the 'open-air' camps of painting and the Heidelberg School, aestheticism and the revival of classicism through such artists as Norman Lindsay, as well as the emergence of Modernism with such seminal figures as Grace Cossington-Smith.

Amidst a Cold War context, the grouping of such artists as Arthur Boyd and John Brack under the banner of Bernard Smith's Antipodean Manifesto, will be explored, in conjunction with American cultural imperialism and the growth of lyrical abstraction, the Charm School and the Contemporary Art Society's debates around Sydney art as decorative surface, questions of social conscience, vapid consumerism and the Annandale imitation Realists, together with such issues as representing Australianess, its myths and land, through such art as Sidney Nolan's Ned Kelly series and John Olsen's You Beaut Country.

Specific topics include documentary and social reform, war photography, advertising, photojournalism and the rise of the illustrated press, the emergence of fine art photography, recurrent aesthetic themes and oppositional practices.

This lecture and reading course is designed to interrogate a number of different theories of cultural crisis, and will proceed from an analysis of various meanings of the word ‘post’ in postmodernism. In particular, the course will examine an idea widely held in the discourses of postmodernism, that we are living in a world characterised by a feeling of ‘being-after’. The course will also focus on the writings of a number of theorists such as Adorno, Benjamin, the debate between Habermas and Lyotard, Foucault and Derrida, whose analyses of culture have defined this post-modern condition.

Staff Contact: Alan Krell

This subject focuses on painting in France and Britain during the second half of the 19th century. Within changing cultural, political and social contexts, the production of painting is examined in the light of four major themes: Work, Sexuality, Leisure and Class. Paintings by Manet, Morisot and Ford Madox Brown, to name a few, are discussed in detail, together with images by lesser known figures such as Francois Salle and Augustus Egg.

COFA 2277 Modernism in Painting

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

This subject provides students with knowledge of the history of painting from pre-industrial Europe to recent times with emphasis on both the perceived mainstream and more divergent approaches such as the Northern Romantic movement, the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood and other regional developments.
This subject will examine the nature of the physical surround of the art object. While the focus will be on installation work produced since the 1960s there will also be an examination of a range of cultural context and historical periods. In every case examined there will be an emphasis on the way in which the physical surround of the art object is conceptualized. Included will be the influence of the Theatre of Cruelty, past revolutionary Russian theatre and cinema, Dada and Surrealism on the conceptualization of installation and a comparison of the Oriental and European constructions of figure/ground relationships.

Artefacts have been classified by art historians as minor arts and 'decorative arts' as such have been dismissed from serious study. This subject will attempt to redress this lack by examining selected examples of objects from ancient times to the contemporary period. Conventional art, historical methods and terminology will be tested against other methods in attempts to assess and position the imagery of artefacts within theoretical structures.

Hyperreality, a society of spectacle and simulacra, an age of postindustrial technocracy, consumerism, obsolescence and the end of ideology are all terms used to characterise Postmodernity and distinguish it from The Modern.

While the conjunctions of Modernism to Postmodernism remains a contentious issue, their interrelationship will be examined through such characteristics, together with ways in which Postmodernism has been defined through art and culture.

With the burst of utopian fervour following the 1917 October Revolution in the Soviet Union the Mexican Revolution and the November Revolution in Germany, a diversity of experimental Modernist art flourished through such artists as Rodchenko, El Lissitsky, Mayakovsky, Vertov and Eisenstein in the Soviet Union, George Grosz, Kathe Kollwitz, Hannah Hoch and John Heartfield in Germany, together with Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo in Mexico and Americans like Ben Shahn and Phillip Guston working in support of Roosevelt's New Deal.

Concentrating upon the interwar period, the emergence of a diverse range of Modernist revolutionary art will be examined in relation to Communism, Socialism, European and American democracies and Fascism, together with ways it became expunged through the imposition of Soviet Socialist Realism, following Stalin's collectivization and Hitler's notorious Degenerate Art Exhibition in Nazi Germany.

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

'Letting 100 flowers bloom and 100 schools of thought contend' was a seminal part of Mao Tse-tung's policy for promoting 'progress' amidst the arts and sciences to create a flourishing Socialist culture throughout China.

The cultural policy formulated by Mao Tse-tung in the 1950s will be examined in relation to the Cultural Revolution, launched in 1966, to use culture as a means of changing Chinese society towards a greater egalitarianism, and in conjunction with the decolonisation of the Philippines, Cambodia and Vietnam, the political dictatorship of Indonesia and the Vietnam War.

This subject is designed to give students the opportunity to learn about the art of printmaking through a critical analysis of the works and attitudes of artist printmakers.

It will take the form of an historical overview of printmaking from the 15th century to the end of the 19th century, the emphasis being placed on European prints.

It is designed to enable students to become familiar with developments in printmaking practice in the 20th century through the work of key practitioners. The interaction of printmaking with other art practices such as painting and photography will be explored as will the influence of the various commercial print technologies.

This subject constitutes the first part of a comprehensive introduction to aesthetics and is primarily concerned with the essentials of aesthetic theory from Plato to Thomas Aquinas.
The subject will primarily involve the clarification of such key notions as "the beautiful" such as it was developed in Plato’s dialogues (The Greater Hippisas, Symposium, Phaedrus and Republic) and the no less seminal categories of mimesis and poiesis as they can be found in Aristotelian philosophy. The last sessions will be devoted to the evolution from the Greek to the Christian cosmology and its repercussions in the conception of art as we find them expressed in Thomas Aquinas’ aesthetic reflections.

Each concept or notion will be studied in the original historical context and in its later developments. Contemporary scholarship will be used to present classical paradigms and current aesthetic discussion will be evoked to test the actuality of ancient ideas.

COFA 2289 Reading the Country S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

Landscape has been regarded, since its inception as a genre of Western Art, as a means of transforming nature into culture. This subject examines different ways in which nature has been transformed into landscape in Western Art from the illuminated manuscripts of the Duc de Berry, the timeless arcadies of Poussin and Claude, the sublime landscapes of Friedreich and Eugene von Guerard to the abstract notations of Fred Williams. These landscapes will be compared with non-Western representations of nature by such aboriginal artists as Clifford Possum, as well as the Navaro Indian and Chinese artists.

Such historical contexts as feudalism (with its social hierarchy based upon tenure of land), the development of geographer’s and surveyor’s instruments, the Enclosure Acts and colonisation, particularly of Australia, will provide the framework for such readings of the country. Analogies between visually representing the land and possessing it as territory will also be investigated, partially in light of the Mabo case.

COFA 2290 Art Feminism and Psychoanalysis S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

It will embrace the relationship between feminism, psychoanalysis and art particularly through such artists/theorist as Helene Cizous and Louise Bourgeois.
Subjects

First Year Core Subjects

Media Art

COFA 1101  Media Art IA  S1 HPW3 C10
This subject focuses upon the imaginative translation of thought and experience into two-dimensional and other 'image' forms, and upon the generation of imagery from a wide range of stimuli.

One of the main emphases will be upon working photographically and with associated processes. Broader methods of image-making such as drawing, three dimensional and time-based approaches will also be addressed, as will questions of intent, content and context, and the development of personal visual languages.

COFA 1102  Media Art IB  S1 HPW3 C10
This subject forms an introduction to the imaginative and personal fabrication of form, as well as to the perception and articulation of space, both as a medium in its own right and as the medium in which all perception and plastic experience takes place.

A wide range of media and processes will be explored, not simply those that are explicitly sculptural and three-dimensional, but also, where appropriate two-dimensional or time-based ones.

Issues will be explored related to perceptual and other experience, symbolism and metaphor, narrative and scale, function and identity. This subject will focus on current sculptural and related practices, including installation, work sited on, or deriving from the body, and work devolving from an awareness of materials and process.

COFA 1103  Media Art IC  S1 HPW3 C10
This course provides an introduction to the broad range of ways of working that may be described as time-based, or that actively explore time as a plastic medium in its own right.

Ideas tackled might therefore emerge in the form of moving imagery such as film/video and animated or kinetic work in two or three dimensions, along with performance, work based on or involving the use of sound, and other processes such as drawing, writing or photography in which time is an active element.

Students are encouraged to develop a working practice founded upon their own ideas and experiences, supported by an inventive attitude to a wide spectrum of media.

COFA 1104  Media Art ID  S1 HPW2 C8
This subject provides an arena where the various concerns of the rest of the first year Media Art course are brought together to address the complex relationships existing between the student as an individual, their work and ideas, and the living culture of which they are part.

The subject consists firstly of ‘forum’ sessions, which focus upon the work of particular individuals (practicing artists and others) who participate in these sessions, and secondly of ‘integration’ sessions. These, through a variety of projects, discussions and other initiatives, concentrate more directly on the individual student and on issues raised by their work, including, as the session progresses, decisions concerning their future subject specialization.

COFA 1105  Media Art 2A  S2 HPW3 C10
Prerequisite: COFA 1101

This subject is designed to provide a transition from the breadth of experience of the first session, to the increasingly personalised program of subsequent sessions. During this period students will be able to map out with increasing certainty the natural bounds of their own artistic enquiry. This subject consists of a series of projects, which are primarily defined by idea and content, so that a trajectory that is individually stimulating and exploratory may be pursued by each student. The lack of constraint upon medium or dimensionality means students may choose to continue working as diversely and divergently as during the first session, or to concentrate more specifically upon modes of working particular to a chosen major area or study.

COFA 1106  Media Art 2B  S2 HPW3 C10
Prerequisite: COFA 1102

In this studio based subject the students will begin studies related to their specialized area chosen from the following: Photographic Studies (image technologies/image manipulation), 4D (film, video art, sound/installation/performance), sculpture (object/installation, jewellery/bodywork, clay).

While each of these may be considered as a self-contained area of study, it is also possible to opt for an interdisciplinary synthesis of the above. In this subject there will be an emphasis on an analysis of the students' conceptual development, the generation of ideas, visual language, acquisition and application of skills, manipulation of materials and interaction with context.

COFA 1107  Media Art 2C  S2 HPW3 C10
Prerequisite: COFA 1103

This subject consists of a series of workshops based across the School of Media Art, which are designed to extend from and expand upon the basic technical inductions encountered during the first session. Specific and adaptable methodologies and processes will be explored, enabling a more resolved synthesis from the conceptual beginnings of a work to its realisation.
COFA 1108  Media Art 2D  S2 HPW2 C8

Prerequisite: COFA 1104

This subject provides a continuing arena for tutorial, contextual and personal support. Attention will be paid to a continuing breadth of stimulus and thought, and to specific advice appropriate to the confirmation of students’ future directions.

There will be a continuing program of visiting artists and other practitioners, plus projects designed to stimulate awareness and debate.

Subjects: BFA

COFA 1020  Studio Art 5D  S1 HPW2 C11

Prerequisite:  Studio Art 4D

This subject is designed to introduce the systematic theorising about art, known as aesthetics. The overall aim is to enable students to gain a critical understanding of the many inter-relationships between theories of art and artistic practice and critical response. ‘Aesthetics’ will examine those thinkers, from the early Greeks through the 18th century to the present day, who have helped form and structure our ways of thinking about art. The subject will be structured around a consideration of four major topics in aesthetics: representation and mimesis; beauty and sublime; taste and value; and expression.

Prerequisite:  Studio Art 5A

This subject consolidates and expands studies undertaken in Studio Art 5A. Students will be required to demonstrate the ability to express and assess concepts relative to their areas of studies. Students will be encouraged to analyse the relationship between perceived aims and results achieved in their studio practice.

COFA 1022  Studio Art 6B  S2 HPW4 C12

Prerequisite:  Studio Art 5B

This subject requires that students work at an advanced level of competence and creativity. Students will undertake a body of work which demonstrates technical understanding of media, is imaginative, and is interpretative of current art practices.

COFA 1023  Studio Art 6C  S2 HPW4 C12

Prerequisite:  Studio Art 5C

In consultation with lecturers students will undertake directed projects in specific areas in the disciplines within Studio Art. Research is studio-based with written augmentation where appropriate.

Bachelor of Art Education – BArtEd

THE COURSE

The Bachelor of Art Education is a four-year full-time degree course designed to meet the community’s need for art educators in secondary schools and related institutions.

The course incorporates flexibility in its structure in order that students may develop their individual potential as future art educators in a variety of roles, since secondary art teachers are required to fulfil many and varied responsibilities. They may function essentially as art historians, practical art producers, art education specialists or they may operate within the school situation as generalists whose interests cover the visual arts and crafts and the performing arts, as well as art theory and art history. The opportunity exists within the course for students to specialize in any of these roles.

The course also provides for students who wish to be practising art educators outside the high school area.

COFA 4032 Art Education and the Primary School S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject is designed to expand the student's knowledge of the art of the primary school child and to examine approaches to teaching art at that level. Students will examine curricula already designed for use at the primary levels and will construct programs suitable for implementation in specific environments.

Through lecture and discussion groups, the subject will renew the theories of development linked with children's artistic development, consider the place of art education in the primary school curriculum and design and evaluate appropriate learning experiences.

COFA 4033 The Multicultural Classroom S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

The main aims of this subject are to increase students' knowledge and awareness of the cultural diversity of Australian society, develop their sensitivity to the needs of minority groups and explore the implications for classroom policies and practices, especially in the area of Art Education.

Through lectures and discussion groups, the subject will consider Australia's history of multi-culturalism and look at the issues/problems arising from multi-cultural education.

COFA 4035 Art as Therapy 1 S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject has been organised for Art Education students who wish to be involved in helping people of all ages to improve the quality of their lives by giving them opportunities to develop their non-verbal expression and communication.
Subjects: BArtEd

Through lecture and workshop activities the subject will look at the role of therapy and the competencies required before an art educator can act as a therapist.

COFA 4037  Art Education and the Environment  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject introduces students to concepts and issues involved in environmental design education and emphasises the reciprocal transaction that exists between people and their art, culture and environment.

Through lecture and discussion, the subject will consider the rationales for environmental design education, personal space, communal space and the cultural influences on environmental design.

COFA 4039  Art Education and Aboriginal Studies  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject is designed to give art educators some insight into the social and political background that has affected, and continues to affect, the educational opportunities of Aboriginal people in modern Australia.

Through lectures, discussions, seminars and visits by Aboriginal guest speakers, this subject will examine the following topics: Aboriginal Identity, Kinship, Law, Religious and Educational Systems and Land Rights; it will also explore European ethnocentricity, prejudice, stereotyping and racism. All topics will be illustrated by art works by both Aboriginal and non Aboriginal artists.

COFA 4040  Independent Study in Art Education  S1 or S2 HPW4 C8

Prerequisite: Seminar in Art Education

This subject aims to provide senior students with the opportunity to explore an area of art education which is of particular interest. Through interaction with a member of the staff of the School of Art Education, students will undertake a study in some aspect of art education which is not encountered in other subjects offered.

Students are expected to demonstrate initiative and organization skills in independently pursuing the research process and reaching educational objectives.

COFA 4043  Educational Research and Art Education  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject introduces students in either Year 3 or Year 4 of the BArtEd course to classical and more recent educational research methods and their effectiveness in understanding the contexts, inputs, processes and outputs associated with art education.

COFA 4045  Community Arts and Education  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject aims to develop in students an understanding of the factors which condition community involvement in the visual arts, an appreciation of the values underlying the avocational pursuit of art outside the school system and the ability to organise a curriculum applicable to community based activity in the visual arts.

COFA 4046  The Art Museum and Art Education  S2 HPW2 C8

This subject aims to foster an awareness in students of the ideology and philosophies of art museums and an understanding of the educational functions of the museum in the development of a lifelong concept of learning. Students will have the opportunity to apply appropriate instructional methods in the art museum context and systematically investigate the plurality of roles which the museum performs within our society.

Bachelor of Art Theory
– BArtTh

THE COURSE

The Bachelor of Art Theory [BArtTh] is a three year degree, with a 4th honours year, constructed to provide intensive study of art histories and theories, as well as to address the nexus between art theory, art practice and 'the art industry'. It will provide an education for those wishing to find employment as gallery curators, arts administrators, art consultants, art project officers, art writers and critics, as well as for those who wish to 'freelance' as artists/theorists.

COURSE STRUCTURE

Core Subjects

The Bachelor of Art Theory degree is constructed around an integrated strand of Core Subjects. The Core Subjects provide intensive study in art histories, theories and philosophies as well as the institutional contexts in which art is exhibited, catalogued, published and promoted. Students enrol in three Core subjects each Session, totalling 18 subjects. The sequence of Core Subjects taken is subject to approval by the School.

Prerequisites

COFA 6005 Theories of the Image, COFA 2001 Art History and Theory 1: Mapping the Modern, COFA 6010 Theories of Art History and Culture and COFA 2002 Art History and Theory 2: Mapping the Postmodern are prerequisites for the following subjects: COFA 6015 Grand Narratives of Western Art, COFA 6025 Images and Issues in Non-Western Art, COFA 6020 Mythologies of the Artist: A Social History, COFA 6030 Art and Cultural Difference, COFA 6035 Art and the Culture of ‘Everyday Life’, COFA 6040 The Philosophy of Taste, COFA 6045 Art in History, COFA 6050 Philosophies of History and COFA 6060 Research Project.

Electives can be chosen from Art History/Theory electives (see subject descriptions on pages 18 to 25 of this Handbook); Studio/Media electives (see subject descriptions on pages 31 to 34 of this handbook); and approved electives offered by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences. Where Studio/Media subjects are chosen, students must complete a strand comprising no less than three electives in a particular subject. Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences subjects may be taken as electives, subject to prerequisite requirements, or as a major sequence, defined as an approved progression of six subjects in a school or program.

General Education

Students are also required to complete two Category A General Studies subjects over Sessions 2 and 3; and two Category B General Studies subjects over Sessions 4 and 5.

Graduating Students' Exhibition

Students are permitted to exhibit in the Graduating Students' Exhibition with a copy of final year Research Papers submitted for display in the Library during the period of the Exhibition.

Honours Entry

Entry to BArtTh honours program is normally made at the beginning of Session 4, though later year entry can be made in special circumstances. The honours program consists of additional coursework in Sessions 4, 5 and 6 and a 4th year which consists of two honours seminars and a thesis. (Students must complete General Education C requirements in their 4th year.) Students must have a failure free record in all subjects in all sessions and achieve a credit average in Core subjects in Sessions 1, 2 and 3. Core Studies

COFA 2001 Art History and Theory 1: Mapping the Modern

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

This subject examines the production of art, art theory and art's meanings within a fabric of political, economic and social formations. Commencing with the Enlightenment and finishing with the immediate post-World War One period, Mapping the Modern looks at modernity through industrialisation, colonisation and technology, as well as cultural issues such as Realism, 'Primitivism' and Expressionism.

COFA 2002 Art History and Theory 2: Mapping the Postmodern

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

Commencing with the politicised art of Stalin's U.S.S.R. and Hitler's Germany, and tracing the transformations in art practice and theory over the post-War period, Mapping the Postmodern will examine the developments within the post-war economy, forms of cultural production, technology and politics. Students will be encouraged to investigate the major moments of aesthetic transformation over this period: performance, installation and environmental, as well as Feminist theories and practices, issues of gender and sexuality, consumerism, post-colonial culture, computer technology, and the environment will also be addressed.

COFA 6005 Theories of the Image

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

An introduction to ways of understanding and evaluating the making, reception and theoretical understandings of images in our culture. Different cultures and historical periods have treated images in radically different ways with different ways of understanding the way images relate to their producer(s), viewer(s) and to the world. There is also a philosophical concern with the nature of the image, how it is able to have meaning, to represent at all. How are we able to read images? Is it a natural process or culturally determined? These issues will be addressed by critically examining the different ways of understanding the artistic image in Western and Non-western arts, and in crucial developments in Western art history [including Renaissance perspective, the invention of photography, photo-mechanical reproduction, Modernism and abstraction, and feminist critiques].

COFA 6010 Theories of Art History and Culture

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

Introduces art history and cultural analysis as forms of narrative, which aim to explain and integrate cultural objects into historical or other order. Draws upon and critically assesses the key methodologies [such as connoisseurship, periodisation, formalism, iconography, historicism and historical materialism, social history, psychoanalysis, semiotics, high culture/popular culture, ethnocentrism, and feminism]. These methodologies will be examined by reference to such historians as Wolfflin, Panofsky, Gombrich, Baxandall, Fry, Antal, Clark, and Pollock.

COFA 6015 Grand Narratives of Western Art

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

To tell progressive stories of art, 'grand narratives' have been formed in Western histories of art which have entailed ordering a selection of historical material into Eurocentric and ethnocentric evolutions. This subject is constructed to cut across wide historical fields and their periodisations to critically examine how these 'grand narratives' have been formed in western art and its histories. It sets-out to focus upon the nature of historical material constituted as evidence for such 'grand narratives' as 'classicism' from Ancient Greece to Nazi Germany, mimesis in terms of 'illusionism' involving the Renaissance control of space and direction of the gaze. It will also explore the geopolitical nature of representing the environment through such genres as 'landscape' and 'cityscape', formations of gender, sexuality and the body through images of 'the nude', and notions of race as insinuated through such stylistic classifications as 'orientalism' and 'primitivism', and their connections with Western connotations of exoticism as eroticism.

COFA 6020 Mythologies of the Artist: A Social History

Staff Contact: Pam Hansford

This subject examines the historical and social constructions of the 'artist as subject' within Western culture. Shifts that took place between circa 1400 to 1900 from the artist as crafts-person to inspired creator to alienated genius are examined in relation to social, cultural and political contexts. A range of positions within Modernism are then considered, such as artists as innovator, visionary, custodian of cultural values, provocateur, social engineer, some of which can be seen as transformations of earlier conceptualisations.

COFA 6025 Images and Issues in Non-Western Art

Staff Contact: Diane Losche

A variety of non-western cultural forms have come to constitute a distinct but changing category within the historical trajectory and constitution of Art, especially since the colonial expansion of capitalism. This subject examines that phenomena via a variety of discourse, an appropriate category to use when looking at particular non-western cultures? What are the implications of applying the category of art to such forms? What implications do non-western cultural forms have for theories of culture, art, society, knowledge and power? The issues raised in this subject are necessarily interdisciplinary in character and cross domains of knowledge such as anthropology, art, aesthetics, philosophy and history.

COFA 6030 Art and Cultural Difference S1 or S2 HPW3 C15

Staff Contact: Diane Losche

The conceptualisation of difference, diversity and multiplicity, both within and across cultural boundaries, has occupied a central position in the historical trajectory of Art, particularly since the end of World War II and the advent of a variety of neo and postcolonialisms. Topics covered include the relationship of theories of ethnicity, gender, race, class, culture, knowledge and power to the complex history and practices of art. These will be addressed by critically examining Adorno, Benjamin, Freud, Irigaray and Marx, and theorists and artists of colonial struggle such as Kahlo, Rivera, Sartre and Fanon. The implications for art of such contemporary issues as multiculturalism will also be included.

COFA 6035 Art and the Culture of ‘Everyday Life’ S1 or S2 HPW3 C15

Staff Contact: George Alexander

This subject looks at the changing position of art in relation to the proliferation and complexity of mass culture. This includes both the aestheticization of everyday life as well the ways in which art’s communicative role has been altered by the pervasiveness of mass media. The interdisciplinary (and sometimes counter-disciplinary) development of cultural studies provides tools for reading art strategies in the light of television, film, computer imaging, the popular press and advertising. Useful to the course are Fernand Braudel’s concept of microhistories, Mikhail Bakhtin’s philosophy of the ordinary, Michel de Certeau’s notion of productive consumption, and Jean Baudrillard’s theory of the ‘spectacle’.

COFA 6040 The Philosophy of Taste S1 or S2 HPW3 C15

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

This subject examines the major structures and ways of thinking which have constituted and transformed the practices of criticism and evaluation of art in the modern era. The Philosophy of Taste encompasses the social, political, economic and theoretical dimensions of the present ways of understanding criticism and interpretation. It begins by examining the discourse on taste and aesthetic value that was so prominent in the 18th century, and concludes with contemporary value discourse (often under the rubric of “postmodernism”). Theorists to be considered include Hume, Kant, Nietzsche, Marx, Adorno and Lyotard.

COFA 6045 Art in History S1 or S2 HPW3 C15

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

This subject provides the framework within which particular theoretical positions (examined elsewhere in the course) can be employed in the detailed examination of a period or artist or issue. The content and orientation of the subject is intended to reflect the different interests of staff, and will vary from session to session. The following are examples of subjects that might be offered:

* Modern Paintings, Modern Life: Impressionism & Parisian Society
* Culture, Psychoanalysis and Revolution: Image and Word in Surrealism
* Relativism and the Arts of Fragmentation
* Interwar Debates and the Frankfurt School
* Cultural Imperialism, Nationalism and Regionalism

The following is a description of one of these subjects:

Modern Paintings, Modern Life: Impressionism and Parisian Society.

This subject looks critically at cliched views of Impressionism. The paintings are situated in their socio-political context and the relationships between the two are explored. Attention is drawn to Haussmann’s modernization of Paris under the Second Empire and concomitant social dislocation. The increasing significance in modern urban culture of institutionalised forms of leisure – cafes, theatres, racetracks and regattas, is discussed. Both the inclusions and omissions of impressionist imagery are considered. Such issues as work and leisure, class and gender, city and country are examined in relation to works by artists including Manet, Caillebotte, Morisot, Cassatt, Degas, Monet and Renoir.

COFA 6050 Philosophies of History S1 or S2 HPW3 C15

Staff Contact: Pam Hansford

This subject introduces the different ways of conceiving the domain, methods, functions and definition of history. Beginning with an examination of historicism, empiricism and hermeneutics, the subject proceeds to look at the various formulations of history in terms of myth, narrative, archeology and finality. Each of these topics is illuminated by a discussion of theorists including Reid, Comte, Dilthey, Sartre, Barthes, Foucault and Baudrillard. The relevance of their writings to art values is explored.
COFA 6060 Research Project S1 or S2 HPW6 C26

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

This subject provides an opportunity for students to bring the range of art knowledges acquired over the previous five sessions together into a sustained piece of research.

Students can choose to research a topic concerned with either a particular artist, art writer, art historian or philosopher, an institution or particular issues during a defined historical period, such as modernity, nationalism, orientalism or gender. Students must then, in consultation with a supervisor, conduct independent archival and field research over a prolonged period of study. From this research, an 6,000 word paper must be developed, demonstrating a cohesive methodology, critical evaluation and classification of research material, valid argumentation and writing skills, together with speculation and a clear delineation of ideas.

COFA 6110 The Production of Art S1 or S2 HPW2 C10

Staff Contact: Alan Krell

The emphasis in this subject is on a 'behind the scenes' exposition of art. It looks critically at the processes by which visual art is made available to viewing publics. These processes take into account a range of concerns (practical, strategic, ideological) that vary widely between institutions. Students are introduced to various professional art practices, through the processes of curating, managing, catalogue writing and production, exhibition display and handling of works. The infrastructure of the 'art industry', including the administration of State Museums and other art organisations, such as funding bodies, are presented as a subject for practical purposes, as well as critical consideration.

COFA 6115 Genres of Art Writing S1 or S2 HPW2 C10

Staff Contact: Joanna Mendelssohn

This subject examines different genres of writing on the visual arts, with an emphasis on contemporary practices. Newspaper reviews, journal criticism, scholarly catalogue essays, 'in house' catalogue notes, 'coffee table' art books and collaborative works between artists and writers are studied in terms of their connections to other genres of writing (for example 'journalese', fictional narrative, descriptive prose). The subject looks at these writings within specific cultural fields and their assumed sets of values. It also demonstrates how such categories play an active role in the shaping and production of meanings in art. Students also become participants in the writing, editing and design of the School of Art Theory's magazine, Artwrite.

COFA 6120 Methods of Research S1 or S2 HPW2 C10 and Writing on Art

Staff Contact: George Alexander

This subject is primarily concerned with the teaching of skills necessary to conduct specific research projects. The focus is on methods of researching primary material as well as locating archival documentation, in order to evaluate and effectively utilise different forms of visual and theoretical 'evidence' for research projects. Topics include field work methods, such as oral history, together with knowledge of indexing procedures, statistical analysis and the utilisation of computer resources, as well as critical methodologies for appraising research material. The subject also includes topics to address the logical construction of 'a valid argument', the rhetorical promises of different genres of writing and the delineation of ideas.

COFA 6125 Industry Placement S1 or S2 HPW2 C10

Staff Contact: Joanna Mendelssohn

This subject is designed to place students into specific institutional frameworks for the duration of the session. Students will nominate one such institution at the beginning of the session and work for a specified period of time at the institution, which could be an art gallery, museum, art institution, journal, artist's studio, library or Fine Art Department. The student shall carry out one project such as curating and/or mounting an exhibition of art work while at the institution, and prepare a report at the end of the session on the project. Alternatively students may produce journal material within the College, in group projects, if such a project seems suitable in particular years.

COFA 6150 Audiences for Art S1 or S2 HPW2 C10

Staff Contact: Alan Krell

The subject exposes students to the different types of contemporary art exhibited locally - in public galleries, dealer galleries, contemporary art spaces, artist run initiatives, community centres and 'non-art' spaces such as shopping malls. Designed to reflect the diversity both of art and the institutions through which it is viewed, this subject is structured around an examination of works 'in situ'. Students are encouraged to engage with work in relation to specific contexts, to consider issues of taste and value and how these are mediated by place and modes of display.

Honours Seminars

COFA 6140 Specialist Studies S1 HPW3

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

Drawing upon Methodologies and Philosophies of Art History, this subject allows for intensive investigation of a period, issue or theme selected to reflect the different specialist interests of staff after consultation with potential students. Topics chosen will be used to highlight theoretical and historical positions previously raised in the course. Topics that might be offered include:
The following is a description of one of these topics.

Formations of Modernism across Continents: Paris-Paris/Paris-Sydney

Taking Paris/Sydney as its geographical nexus, constructions and conceptions of Modernist Centre and Periphery will provide the focus of exploration for this subject. Through an investigation of a network of interrelationships between French and Australian Governments' cultural policies, the press, art journals and book publishers, as well as State Galleries, State funded exhibitions and Salons, dealer-galleries, art schools and artist studios, the different ways in which Modernism emerged, as a discourse and art practice, will be determined.

COFA 6141 Thesis

Staff Contact: Fay Brauer

A research thesis of 15,000 words on an approved topic. Students are expected to consult with the Head of School in February about their topics and arrange supervision with a member of staff no later than mid-March, when work on the thesis should commence. Throughout the year students are expected to work closely with their supervisors and attend occasional thesis workshops.

COFA 6142 Methodologies and Philosophies of Art History

Staff Contact: Graham Forsyth

This subject deals with problems of art historical methodology. It critically examines the different ways of conceiving the domain, functions and definitions of art history through an analysis of such early methodologies as those of Morelli, Berenson, Wolfflin, Panofsky, Schapiro, Antal and Gombrich, as well as such recent seminal texts as Baxandall's Painting and Experience in Fifteenth Century Italy, T. J. Clark's Social History of Art, Griselda Pollock's 'Feminist interventions' into the field of Art History, Bernard Smith's Imaging the Pacific, Joan Kerr's Dictionary of Australian Artists, Norman Bryson's Vision and Painting: The Logic of the Gaze, as well as Laura Mulvey's Visual and Other Pleasures. The interrelationship between such art methodologies and philosophy will be explored through such key philosophical figures as Hegel, Marx, Kant, Nietzsche, Heidegger, Bourdieu, Foucault, Derrida and Deleuze, to ultimately provide a diversity of tools for the construction of an Honours Thesis.

Bachelor of Design – BDes

THE COURSE

The Bachelor of Design is a 4 year degree with the opportunity to undertake honours study.

This course will provide an education for people who wish to enter a range of different areas of the design profession, for example: design studios, advertising agencies, illustration, publications, interiors, theatre, exhibitions, festivals, display fittings and furnishings, decorative and applied design, film, television production and post-production.

In Year 1 students will be involved in a comprehensive and intensive range of 2D, 3D and 4D (or time based) experiences as well as the acquisition of historical, theoretical and technological skills and understandings. These include studying human individuals, society, the environment, and the application of computer skills to design.

In Years 2 and 3 students will extend their work on projects integrating the following: design in graphics/media, applied design and the design of environments. Historical, theoretical and technological contexts will be applied.

In Year 4 students’ projects will integrate design studies and a one session period of work experience into a graduation project/exhibition.

This course recognises the College of Fine Arts’ particular strengths, resources and requirements to provide an undergraduate course which places emphasis on an integrated approach rather than on narrow vocational specializations. These strengths are its technology and applied arts base and its relationship with industry, its subjects in visual arts, art education and art theory; and the ability to offer design from a creative and flexible base.

With the growth of specialization in this century the relationship between design and the fine arts has grown more tenuous. Design has seen itself as linked to systems of industrial production and to the growth of the economy. By contrast the present cultural development and the articulation of cultural production in the character of Australia is seen through the Arts – painting, literature, music – not through design.

As the prominent economist John Kenneth Galbraith has said: 'We must cease to suppose that science and resulting technological achievement are only the edge of industrial advance. Beyond science and engineering is the artist; willing or unwillingly, he or she is vital for industrial progress in the modern world'. Reference quoted by Donald Horne (1988) Think or Perish. (Occasional paper No. 8. The Commission for the Future.)

TOTAL CREDIT POINTS 120 PER YEAR INCLUDING ALL SUBJECTS. COURSE TOTAL 480 CREDIT POINTS
Subjects

COFA 5110 Design Studio Projects: Materials, Equipment and Processes

The aim of these subjects is to introduce and demonstrate the multi-disciplinary and integrated nature of the design process. Students will be involved in a variety of projects which address the acquisition of basic design concepts and the language, materials, techniques and processes by which they are expressed. These projects will initially concentrate on mark-making and its potential as an element in 2D design. Following the development of these understandings, subsequent projects will incorporate 3D forms, spatial and temporal considerations through sequential imagery.

COFA 5111 Design Seminar 1

In this subject students will be introduced to an analytical process whereby theoretical and philosophical understandings outlined in Contextual Studies are applied to the creative solution of a design problem. Further, students will be involved in critical analysis of sources developed in order to develop the capacity to evaluate different design approaches.

COFA 5112 History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 1

The aim of this subject is to discuss and analyse work by different designers and artists to elucidate issues applicable to the aesthetics of design. The issues include:

- the idiosyncratic nature of certain designers’ and artists’ practices.
- basic philosophies of structures and materials as they are expressed as an element of design.
- the interrelationships of form, space, movement and time.
- simple structures, geometric forms and spaces as design elements.
- ideas about the human body in space.
- the experience of spaces and forms perceived through movement.

COFA 5113 Interactive Systems: Design and Responsible Management of the Environment

The aim of this subject is to introduce and develop understandings about patterns of human habitation. The relationship between 'nature' and society is examined in the context of pressures on resources, both past and present, for their implications for the quality of life. Students will develop moral and ethical frameworks within which to evaluate problems and define strategies for solutions.

Further, to continue investigation of notions about interrelationships of 'nature', society and the urban environment, and the need for responsibility in formulating models and strategies for the future. Socio-political processes are evaluated for their adequacy to respond to human aspirations and objectives and the design of alternatives is explored.

COFA 5114 Design and Human Functioning: The Body at Work

The aim of this subject is to introduce students to basic concepts in psychological studies and their application in the design context. These concepts may include:

- the psychology of perception.
- theoretical approaches to the analysis of human behaviour as it relates to design.
- anatomy.
- anthropometrics, measurement of the physical and functional characteristics of the human body.
- analysis and measurement of the relationship between the human body and the design of the macro and micro environment.

COFA 5115 Research Project Design 1 Drawing: Object and Life

This subject provides students with the opportunity to participate in a fine art study or an area of research which informs and supplements their Core Subjects. Students may take the Research Project in another part of the University with the approval of their Course Advisers.

COFA 5116 Research Project Design 2 Introduction to Computers

This subject provides students with the opportunity to participate in a fine art study or an area of research which informs and supplements their Core Subjects. Students may take the Research Project in another part of the University with the approval of their Course Advisers.

COFA 5210 Design Studio: Graphics/Media 1

The aim of this subject is to develop students' perceptual awareness through observing objects, photographing and drawing them as pattern and diagram on a flat surface. Freehand and technical drawing will be explored in the development of plan, section and elevation, together with acquiring understandings of compositional possibilities in the use of black/white, positive/negative relationships and colour theory. These understandings will be applied to graphics projects resulting in finished artwork such as is used for poster design and other advertising.
Further, students will develop an ability to identify, analyse and resolve more complex design problems as well as experience coping with various tasks and challenges simultaneously. Students will undertake projects which require them to synthesize a variety of understandings, materials and processes, extending their skills in illustration, rendering and perspective to explore the potential for graphics design. Students identify projects which arise from understandings acquired in Contextual Studies, and will experience teamwork as a means of understanding the roles of communication and organization in the design process. 2D & 3D CAD, materials and techniques in drawing or those undertaken as individual research in the Core Options will also be applied in these projects.

COFA 5211 Design Studio: Applied 1

Prerequisite: COFA 5110

The aim of this subject is to develop students’ perceptual awareness through cutting, folding and joining flat materials to make the simple geometric solids. The process whereby flat flexible materials are transformed into structure is explained for the inherent principles involved. These solids are then arranged in space and drawn freehand progressively employing tone, texture and colour to represent 3D form. The conceptual, material and sculptural understandings gained are used to develop designs in the decorative and applied arts.

Further, students will develop an awareness of compound forms. Projects will focus on various aspects of the fabricated environment, and students will construct models to examine the interrelationship of materials and fabrication techniques in their application to design. Students will undertake projects which require them to synthesize a variety of understandings, materials and processes, extending their skills in developing sculptural forms. Students identify projects which arise from understandings acquired in Contextual Studies, and will experience teamwork as a means of understanding the roles of communication and organization in the design process. 2D & 3D CAD, materials and techniques in sculpture or those undertaken as individual research in the Core Options will also be applied in these projects.

COFA 5212 Design Studio: Environments 1

Prerequisite: COFA 5110

The aim of this subject is to develop students’ awareness of space, scale and movement. The principles of perspective drawing are introduced and investigated through freehand and mechanically constructed drawing. The ways in which horizontal and vertical planes define and articulate space are explored through scale drawings and models of simple spaces. Students analyse and record by video and series of freehand drawings their perception of movement through a sequence of spaces. Analysis of the conceptual and material understandings gained are then applied to integrating the aesthetic, spatial and functional aspects of connected volumes as for exhibition, theatrical or promotional events.

COFA 5213 Design Seminar 2

F HPW2 C12

Prerequisite: COFA 5111

In this subject students will continue to be involved in an analytical process whereby theoretical and philosophical understandings generated in Contextual Studies are applied to the creative solution of a design problem. Further, students will be involved in the critical analysis of the process and solutions derived in order to develop the capacity to evaluate different design approaches and solutions. Students will be expected to articulate such evaluations.

COFA 5214 History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 2

F HPW2 C10

Prerequisite: COFA 5112

From general understandings gained in History, Theory and Aesthetics of Design 1, more complex notions about form, space and movement are used to develop aesthetic understandings about the constructed and ‘natural’ environments. Students understanding of the history of society as it relates to these is expanded to encompass considerations of the characteristics and relationships between internal and external spaces. This is undertaken through a process of tracing design issues through different periods and movements to reveal the manner in which they have been expressed.

COFA 5215 Design and Social Theory

F HPW2 C10

The aim of this subject is to introduce students to theoretical areas such as sociology and to explore their application in the design context. Concepts will be presented to assist in the analysis of the behaviour of social groups and target populations and issues such as ‘green design’, social responsibility and the ideology of the image will be explored. Students will be actively involved in observation, analysis and speculation concerning the social factors present in all aspects of the design process.

COFA 5216 Design and Computers 1

F HPW2 C12

This subject will introduce students to the computer, its languages and its potential as a design tool. They will develop basic computer literacy, keyboard skills and a variety of graphic techniques and skills.

The subject will also develop understandings and skill in:
- using 2D Computer Aided Design programs to generate graphics.
- using 3D Computer Aided Design programs to generate representations of three-dimensional design intentions.

Category A Subjects

GENS 4507  Mass Media and Communication  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Popular Culture, Mass Media and ‘Everyday Life’”.

The power of the mass media over the last 150 years has transformed the nature of popular cultures and ‘everyday life’. The mass media has assumed such a pervasive power in contemporary societies that is is able to transfigure everyday life without our awareness or control.

By exploring the transition from industrial to post-industrial society in relation to the proliferation and complexity of technological culture such as radio, television, video and computers, this subject will question the nature of distinctions drawn between the visual arts, popular culture and the mass media. The aestheticisation of everyday life, the coercive impact of the mass media on forms of communication, the patterns of media ownership and control, together with the social and technological development of mass culture over the last 150 years – including the arrival of photography, film, television, the popular press, advertising and the possibilities of alternative media – will be examined.

GENS 4521  Aboriginal Australia: A View of its Past, Present and Future  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Aboriginal Australia”.

This subject is offered in order to provide an Aboriginal perspective on Aboriginal society as it was in the past, as it is at present and its prognosis for the future. It is designed to provide an equiponderate account where previously the Aboriginal contribution was either mis-stated, misrepresented or completely ignored.

In presenting a broad overview of Aboriginal Australia from antiquity to the present day, contemporary Aboriginal issues such as land rights, political movements and relationships between Aboriginals and law can be addressed from an evolutionary context, rather than from reactive judgement based solely on the face value of the end product.

GENS 4529  Ecosystems, Technology and Human Habitation  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Art, the Community and the Environment”.

What relationship does a community bear to its natural environment? What constitutes the identities of a community and how are they articulated? How important is it for the identities of a community to be represented through art and culture? How can art and culture help convey the identities of a community and its relationship to a particular environment? If the artist is an ‘outsider’, how is this to be negotiated?

This subject will explore the formation of communal identities through labour, leisure, architecture, visual communication, art, language, the natural environment and the functions of everyday life. It will examine ways in which the visual arts, architecture, landscape architecture and a range of cultures from theatre to rock concerts have articulated and shaped community identity. It will also consider the politics involved in such interventions, ranging from the co-called imposition of the ‘turd in the plaza’, earthworks to define remote environments and their relationship to ecology, to the emergence of community arts programmes designed to integrate cultural identities with different forms of urban and rural habitation.

GENS 4531  Australian Society and Culture  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Race, Nation and Multiculturalism in Australian Society”.

From first contact, through colonisation, the construction of Federation and a modern nation, post WWII mass European immigration, to modern conceptions of a multicultural Australia at home in Asia, issues of race and nation have been crucial to Australian culture and society.

In examining responses to the Aboriginal inhabitants, relations between English and Irish settlers, notions of British empire, attitudes to and fear of the Asian north, reactions to Chinese settlement, White Australia, the rise of non-British European immigration, conceptualisations of race and nation will be explored. Reactions to U.S. cultural dominance, the impact of recent Asian settlement including ‘boat people’ and other refugees, the emulation of Asian economic success and the official policy of multiculturalism, are also issues to be questioned in conjunction with formations of identity and Otherness.

GENS 4532  Australia and the Development of the World Economy  S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled “Regional and International Perspectives on Australian Culture: Australia and the World at Large”.

Is Australia the ‘lucky country’ as Donald Horne proclaimed in the 1960s, rich in natural wealth with a stridently independent identity unburdened by colonial traditions, or is it merely a new Britannia, America’s 52nd State? How does Australia’s economic performance rate within the world economy and can it compete with computerized technology? When compared to the global market dominance of Japan and the U.S., is it a ‘Banana Republic’? How do Australians see themselves in relation to cultures outside Australia? Conversely how do those cultures see Australians?
This subject will not only investigate the roles played by world trade, manufacturing and commerce in shaping Australian society. It will also consider the 'cultural cringe', how Australia may internalise the tyranny of distance and address its so-called provincialism problem as well as its early penal history. Australian identities in relation to others will be explored through these issues as well as ways Australians are seen to represent themselves through a range of cultures from Dame Edna to Biennales.

Category B Subjects

GENS 5180 The Use of Language Images and Symbols S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This subject may be undertaken as one of two different streams.

Stream 1: This stream is entitled "Culture and Communication, Disciplines and Boundaries".

Culture is not simply an homogenous thing. The sub-divisions of culture into separate disciplines and the arts has been the product of a long historical development, effecting ways in which the different arts have been perceived as related to or different from each other. At the same time, whilst the partitioning of the arts has seemed securely established by the techniques of making (metiers) and the specific requirement of the different materials used, there exists a multitude of connections between them.

This subject will address a range of cultural disciplines, including theatre, dance, poetry, music in terms of the interrelationship between such disciplines and the so-called 'Fine Arts'. Questions of the ways in which disciplinary boundaries are constructed, the cultural status of disciplines, the nature of attempts at cross-disciplinary and inter-disciplinary interactions, the effects of new and often hybrid art forms will be examined. The reciprocal influences of such cross-cultural disciplines as the picture-poem ('pictura poesis') or the symphonic painting will be explored in conjunction with the recent development of more synthetic art forms such as installation, dance-theatre or concrete poetry – the ultimate aim of this subject being the broadening of artistic horizons and a hermeneutical understanding of the inter-dependency of all artistic disciplines within the field of Post Modern Culture.

Stream 2: This stream is entitled "Culture, Language and Knowledge".

How do we know? How do we acquire knowledge? How is knowledge defined? This subject introduces basic concepts interrelating culture, language and knowledge and explores the relationship between perception and knowledge. What is the relationship between language, language acquisition and knowledge? What is the relationship between cultural context, language and the perception of and forms of knowledge? What is the relationship between verbal and non-verbal forms of knowledge in different cultural contexts?

These questions will be addressed in this subject through the introduction of basic concepts in philosophy, art history and anthropology.

GENS 5522 Changing Conceptions S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled "The Body, Gender, Sexuality and Pleasure".

This subject introduces students to contemporary theories and philosophies which investigate and problematise the relationship between the body, gender, sexuality and pleasure.

The last 25 years has witnessed an efflorescence of investigations into and theorisation about the relationship between the body, gender, sexuality and pleasure. This theorisation has developed in relationship to feminism, deconstructive theories, structuralism, theories of representation and media developments. The contributions of each of these arenas to the relations between sexuality and pleasure will be explored through an examination of the visual arts, in relation to theoretical and philosophical texts.

GENS 5523 The Pursuit of Human Rationality S1 or S2 HPW2 C8

This stream of the subject is entitled "Art and Science: Imagination and the Pursuit of Rationalism".

Differing notions of rationality have been dominant at different stages in western history, while non-western societies have had varying conceptions of reason. One major contrast, at least in the West, has been that between scientific rationality and art. Since the late 18th century, art has been linked not to knowledge, in a public or intersubjective form, but to beauty and as the expression of an imaginative and subjective knowledge, different from, but complementary to, perception and thought.

This subject will examine the ways in which art and science have been understood as distinct or even opposed forms of activity. Ways in which the science/non-science distinction has been established, competing notions of the bases for knowledge (perception, logic, imagination, creativity), accounts of art as subjective, private and undemonstrable, notions of the imagination and art as a form of knowledge will be investigated.
This subject may be undertaken as one of two different streams:

GENS 5524 Beliefs, Values and the Search for Meaning

This subject will be concerned with the history of Taste and the different methods by means of which it has been thought possible to form judgement in this century. The underlying value systems of artistic evaluation will be scrutinised on a critical basis and students will be introduced to the different and often conflicting theories (aesthetic and hermeneutical, semiotic and psychoanalytical) which propound to have arrived at a clear understanding of the mechanics or the metaphysics of artistic judgement.

The overriding aim of this subject is to show how no judgement of taste can possibly be thought of as value-free. It will then examine how the evaluation of works of art inevitably entails a projection of beliefs and assumptions of meaning, which are grounded in ideology.

GENS 5527 The Role of the Arts in the Human Future

This General Education subject will address this question by exploring a range of art in postmodern society – particularly artists such as Stellarch and Orlan – as well as by examining forms art may take during the next millennium.

This stream of the subject is entitled "Future Shock: Art for a New Millennium".

Will the virtual reality of computer technology have changed living to such an extent that we shall be dealing with the 'Post-Human' by the new millenium?

The use of electronic and computer technology by artists and future possibilities such as virtual reality will also be examined.

GENS 5525 The Computer, its Impact, Significance and Uses

This stream of the subject is entitled "New Technologies, New Perceptions".

New technologies, particularly computer based, have dramatically transformed the ways in which people perceive, understand and deal with their environments. Although this may be understood as simply an extension of the powers of human perception and understanding it is just as much a transformation or mutation of these powers. From the invention of photography in the 19th century through to the increasing use of electronic image manipulation, which bypass the optical and chemical processes that physically define photography, the links between image and reality, the so-called "truth" of the image has come under increasing question. Electronic imagery, whether on computer screen, television, or hidden in film or photography, has become ubiquitous, transforming the way we experience our world.

For this Category C subject, students would be required to participate in two seminars entailing 28 hours each session, to examine the interrelationships of art, ethics and social responsibility. In these seminars, students would be required to address the following seminal questions, in relation to the research component of their Honours year and their practices as intellectuals and professionals in society.

- Does an artist, art writer and/or theorist have obligations to communities?
- Should an artist, art writer and/or theorist position themselves in relation to a nation?
- Can a diversity of behaviour, including discriminative practices and abusive language, be justified in the name of art?
- Can censorship have a role to play in the exhibition of art and the publication of art theory?
- How are differences to be represented, theorised and negotiated, whether they be of culture, gender, sexuality, race, nation, age or income level?
- How may my practices help break down barriers of exclusion and help promote accessibility among different audiences and cultures?

- What kind of values will my practices help promote?

- Will my practices help expand and inspire understandings of art, its histories and theories and roles in societies?

Language Subjects may be substituted for two Category B Subjects under conditions prescribed by the Centre for Liberal and General Studies.

*Subject to approval.
Master of Art Administration
– by Coursework
– MArtAdm

THE COURSE

The Master of Art Administration combines a wide ranging knowledge of the visual arts in relation to management, marketing and financial as well as curatorial practices, writing and documentation, legal and theoretical studies. The degree recognises the significant changes that are taking place in the cultural sphere and prepares students for future employment in areas both inside and outside the traditional gallery/museum context. Practical, analytical and theoretical skills are developed in a program that emphasises vocational training within a wider cultural and critical framework.

It is intended that students graduating from this course will be equipped with the skills necessary to function in managerial, administrative curatorial, art writing and other professional capacities within the visual arts industry.

While the main thrust of the course is directed towards gallery management skills, curatorial studies and exhibition design development, ‘Cultural Property, Ethics and the Law’, addresses such issues as censorship, copyright, the gallery’s ethical and legal responsibility to the artist and art work.

The elective subjects in this course provide an exploration of Modernism and Postmodernism, detailed information of galleries and collections in Australia, examination of the principles and philosophy of conservation, the history of art criticism and writing about art in Australia, and the kinds of writing undertaken by those working in institutions.

The course consists of lectures, seminars and hands-on activities, a 10,000 word research paper and an internship of no less than ninety hours. Each subject normally requires attendance at a 3 hour lecture plus related research and assignment work. The research paper draws on the experiences of the internship but is an independent, supervised project that involves a time commitment at least equivalent to other core subjects.

Internship
Subjects

Core Subjects

COFA 8120 Management and Organisation: Systems, Services and Survival

This subject examines the management and administrative skills and knowledge required from individuals to take up positions as directors and managers of arts and related organisations. It covers aspects of management and organisational structures in existing institutions both large and small, public and commercial. It includes the establishment of new organisations and the planning and development of systems designed to ensure the delivery of services and the long term survival of arts organisations and institutions, their human and material resources and the ideas and ideals which drive them.

COFA 8124 Cultural Property, Ethics and the Law

This subject examines the ethical and legal implications of the interactions generated between artists, exhibiting spaces and the viewing/purchasing public in contemporary society. It enables the development of a broader critical perspective on the cultural, legal, political and moral contexts of gallery and museum management. Issues discussed include contracts, copyright, acquisitions and disposal of works, moral rights and censorship, conflict of interest, the responsibilities of trustees.

COFA 8129 Writing for Different Cultures and Audiences

This subject is about the kinds of writing that those working in art institutions most commonly undertake: writing from the perspective of the institution. It recognises that writing may have many different functions and writers must learn to adapt their style, vocabulary and technique, according to who will read the product. Questions to be considered include the current debate on captions, writing for children and non-specialist publics, research techniques including oral history, press kits and media management, and different types of catalogues. The method of study is very much 'hands on'. It involves, among other things, the editing and layout of an edition of Artwrite, a magazine of student writing.

COFA 8132 Exhibition Management and Curatorial Studies

This subject examines the theoretical and practical aspects of exhibition management. It develops a knowledge of curatorial procedures with particular reference to the initiation, presentation, interpretation and planning of art works in exhibition settings. Specific attention is paid to the administrative skills necessary to mount exhibitions, the production of visual and written documentation and the methods of critical engagement with images and objects. Visits to exhibitions as well as participation in the planning and implementation of an exhibition form an essential part of this subject.

COFA 8133 Research Paper

This allows for the focusing of investigative, analytical and theoretical skills. Topics must relate to the broad area of the internship and are chosen in consultation with a supervisor who will guide and direct the project. The 10,000 word study, one copy of which is retained by the College, may include the use of film, video and audio tape or photographic documentation where relevant. While it may draw directly on experiences gained during the internship, the research paper must be treated as an independent project.

Core Options

COFA 8122 Aesthetics and Criticism: Modernism and Postmodernism

Through an exploration of aesthetic theory and critical writing, this subject considers the complexities of such all embracing terms as modernism and postmodernism. An understanding of particular writers, theorists and artists, their historical contexts together with their discourses and debates is encouraged through an examination of a range of topics. These include modernism and the representations of modern life, modernism vs Communism and Fascism, modernism as Formalism, power/knowledge and deconstruction, centre and otherness, feminisms, post-industrialisation.

COFA 8134 The Art and Culture of Everyday Life

This subject looks critically at the different formulations of art in relation to mass culture. It gives an overview of the social and technological development of mass culture including the advent of photography, film, television, advertising and the 'popular' press. Special attention is paid to the ways in which the relationship between art and mass culture has been conceptualised by such seminal thinkers as Michel de Certeau, Fernand Braudel, Paul Virilio and Jean Baudrillard.

COFA 8135 Theories of Subjectivity and the Body

The body and human subjectivity have formed a major focus for theoretical speculations in both the 19th and 20th centuries. This subject looks critically at a range of 19th century thinkers including Sade, Karl Marx, Pierre-Joseph Proudhon and William Morris as well as the early writings of Sigmund Freud. The ways in which human nature has been conceptualized are examined. Topics covered include the body as a site of alienated labour, the body in relation to notions of progress and degeneration, the female body in Victorian society.

COFA 8136  Art and Cultural Difference

The conceptualization and evaluation of cultural difference has occupied a central position in western art and culture, particularly since the period of colonisation began. This subject sees cultural difference as a series of narratives and counter-narratives. Topics covered include the ways in which cultural difference has been addressed in art and literature by colonised subjects, the place of art in anti-colonial liberation movements of the twentieth century and French constructions of the Orient in sculpture and painting. Particular attention is paid to the writings of, among others, Walter Benjamin, Theodor Adorno, Luce Irigaray and Franz Fanon.

Elective Subjects

COFA 8121  Conservation and Collections Management

This subject introduces the principles of conservation and illustrates its role as an integrated component of collections management. It examines the physical nature of works of art and the interactions with their environment. The range of responses of conservation to collections is discussed as well as conservation's relationship with an institution's custodial responsibilities and public programs. Conservators and registrars at selected Sydney institutions are visited in order to facilitate a comparative overview of conservation practice.

COFA 8125  Exhibition and Gallery Design Development

This subject considers two areas of design development. These are the theoretical and practical aspects of exhibition design and display techniques and the specific design demands of a gallery space. The ways in which the objectives of an exhibition may be identified are discussed, and all aspects related to project initiation and completion examined. These include planning and design management, budget formulation and controls, production and installation management, spatial requirements and evaluation, light and lighting.

COFA 8128  The Development of Art Criticism in Australia

This subject examines the history of art criticism and writing about art in an Australian context and considers how these practices reflect, diagnose and affect the nature of the visual arts. There is a constant evaluation of recent art criticism from a variety of sources and a questioning of what actually constitutes criticism. At the same time, the subject goes back to the start of writing about art in Australia and looks at the practice from the beginning of European settlement to recent times in an historical context.

COFA 8130  Art Galleries and Collections in Australia

This subject balances the historical and theoretical aspects of collections (public, private and corporate) with the practical issues involved. How and why collections are formed; the aesthetic and political assumptions behind collecting policies; how well various collections serve their constituencies are some of the issues that are explored, together with aspects of conservation, storage, documentation and access as they relate to the practical aspects of collection management. Visits are made to various public institutions including state and regional galleries and, where possible, selected private and corporate collections.

COFA 8137  Festivals and Biennales

This subject covers the history, conception and implementation of arts festivals and recurrent national and international exhibitions. Particular attention is paid to events in Australia such as the Biennale of Sydney, the Australian Sculpture Triennial and the Adelaide Festival (including Artists' Week). Overseas events include the history of the Biennale commencing in Venice in 1895 to Sao Paulo and Paris, as well as major expositions such as the Indian Triennial, Documenta and the Carnegie International. The history of these complex programs is discussed, in particular, the administrative skills, conceptual insights and artistic resources essential to their successful realization.

COFA 8138  Education and Public Programs

This subject covers issues surrounding public programs and education in the context of art galleries, museums and related institutions. It addresses questions to do with the identification and definition of audiences, examines the needs of non specialist communities as well as educational institutions, and takes account of the practicalities of budgeting and planning. The development of programs using volunteer guides (and their training), floor talks, lectures, seminars and conferences, is presented as a subject for practical purposes as well as critical consideration. Also included is a consideration of exhibitions for purely educational purposes.
This subject provides individuals working in an arts based organisation with competencies relevant to the inter-personal and inter-group skills demanded in the efficient and effective management of organisations. It aims to fulfill the needs of individuals interested in the principles of planning, organisation, communication and evaluation of personnel within an organisation and, as well, the needs of directors and supervisors who wish to develop expertise in essential personnel management aspects of their job within an appropriate theoretical framework.

This subject focuses on issues in marketing for those working in arts and related fields. Topics covered include methods of audience research and ways of undertaking group surveys and their implementation. How to define the unique qualities of a target institution and create a public image around this separateness are issues explored, together with detailed studies of promotional and fundraising strategies.

Students undertake a project based internship consisting of a minimum of 90 hours. This may involve more than one host institution. Internships enable students to gain practical, supervised experience of gallery management, curatorial practice, public programs, art writing and all other work areas related to the course. The internship is ungraded but successful completion requires the submission of reports both by the host institution and the student. Students are also required to attend a report back session with lecturers involved in the program.

Internships have been hosted locally, interstate and overseas by the following, among others: the National Gallery of Australia, Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York), Art Gallery of New South Wales, regional and commercial galleries in New South Wales, Sotheby's Australia Pty Ltd, Australian Centre for Photography, State Library of New South Wales, Visual Arts/Craft Board of the Australia Council, Powerhouse Museum, and the Ministry for the Arts New South Wales.

3.4.1 The progress of the candidate shall be considered by the Committee each session following report from the School in accordance with the procedures established within the School and previously noted by the Committee.

3.4.2 A candidate for the degree shall be required to undertake such assessment or conditions as prescribed.

3.5 Thesis

3.5.1 On completing the program of study a candidate shall submit a thesis embodying the results of the investigation.

3.5.2 The candidate shall give in writing to the College Secretary two months notice of intention to submit the thesis.

3.5.3 The thesis shall present on account of the candidate's own research. In special cases work done conjointly with other persons may be accepted, provided the Committee is satisfied on the candidate's part in the joint research.

3.5.4 The candidate may also submit any work previously published whether or not such work is related to the thesis.

3.5.5 Three copies of the thesis shall be presented in a form which complies with the requirements of the University for the preparation and submission of theses for higher degrees.

3.5.6 It shall be understood that the College retains the three copies of the thesis submitted for examination and is free to allow the thesis to be consulted or borrowed. Subject to the provisions of the Copyright Act, 1968, the College may issue the thesis in whole or in part, in photostat or microfilm or other copy medium.
3.6 Examination

3.6.1 There shall be no fewer than two examiners of the thesis, appointed by the Committee, at least one of whom shall be external to the University unless the Committee is satisfied that this is not practicable.

3.6.2 At the conclusion of the examination each examiner shall submit to the Committee a concise report on the thesis and shall recommend to the Committee that:

(a) The thesis merits the award of the degree, either Honours Class 1 or Honours Class 2.

(b) The thesis merits the award of the degree, either Honours Class 1 or Honours Class 2, subject to minor corrections as listed being made to the satisfaction of the Head of School.

(c) The thesis requires further work on matters detailed in my report. Should performance in this further work be to the satisfaction of the Higher Degree Committee, the thesis would merit the award of the degree, either with Honours Class 1 or Honours Class 2.

(d) The thesis does not merit the award of the degree in its present form and further work as described in my report is required. The revised thesis should be subject to re-examination.

(e) The thesis does not merit the award of the degree and does not demonstrate that re-submission would be likely to achieve that merit.

3.6.3 If the performance in the further work recommended under 3.6.2(c) above is not to the satisfaction of the Committee, the Committee may permit the candidate to re-present the same thesis and submit to further examination as determined by the Committee within a period specified by it but not exceeding eighteen months.

3.6.4 The Committee shall, after consideration of the examiners' reports and the results of any further examination, recommend whether or not the candidate may be awarded the degree. If it is decided that the candidate be not awarded the degree the Committee shall determine whether or not the candidate be permitted to resubmit the thesis after a further period of study and/or research.
